Reservists Performing Vital Service, JFK Says

Indicates Men Will Get Out In Less Than Year

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy offered hope Wednesday to Reservists he said were summoned to active duty "to prevent war" that they may be out of uniform in less than the required 12 months.

"We call them in to prevent a war, not to fight a war," Kennedy said. "We are going to get them out as quickly as we can."

Kennedy bristled a bit about the whole subject. He put in more time on it than on any other at a 31-minute news conference that spread out over such matters as an ape in space, fallout shelters, and the possibility of an eventual visit to the Soviet Union.

This was against a background of published reports about Reservists having poor equipment, little to do or being square pegs in round holes. Rep. Alvin O'Konsky, R-Wis., has said the Army showed criminal negligence in the handling of Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Kennedy answered a questioner who asked about complaints of Reservists that most of them are making heavy sacrifices; that they gave up jobs and their lives are disturbed. The President said they are performing a vital service.

Like Plane Standing At Alert

"These men who may be serving in a very cold and windy camp in Ft. Lewis, Wash.," the President contended, "are rendering the same kind of service to our country as an airplane standing at 15-minute alert at a SAC —Strategic Air Command—base in Omaha is rendering.

"Their function today is to indicate that the United States is serious about its commitments; that it means to meet its commitments. It wants to negotiate a peaceful settlement if it can, but it does not propose to surrender."

Reservists were called up, he said, because the administration felt U.S. conventional forces lacked sufficient strength at a time of increased tension in Viet Nam and a clash of interests over Germany and Berlin.

The important thing, he said, "is to maintain the peace, and they are helping to do it," however unsatisfactory it may be to be sitting in a camp. Men are bound to be unhappy, he said, at camps that have been newly opened or where equipment may not be available immediately.

But he said a story that the Pentagon has determined to keep Reservists on active duty for more than a year for which they were called was wholly wrong. He said this never has been suggested, and: "It is our hope to get these men out before their 12 months period."

Ft Lewis Investigation

As for Ft. Lewis, he said the inspector general of the Army, Maj. Gen. Edward H. McDaniel, has been sent there to investigate conditions.

As soon as Kennedy finished what was almost a lecture about Reservists, his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, leaned over with a message.

The President got a roar of laughter when he reported that: "The chimpanzee who was flying in space took off at 10:08. He reports everything going perfectly and working well."

After the news conference in the State Department auditorium, Kennedy stopped off in a nearby room where there is a television set, apparently to have a look at what was going on at Cape Ca-

Dominicans Trying To Topple Balaguer Appeal For U.S. Aid

SANTO DOMINGO, D. R. (UPI)—Opposition leaders who attempted to topple the government with a general strike that erupted into violence asked the United States Wednesday to block the establishment of a new military dictatorship in the Dominican Republic.

The appeal, presented in the form of a petition to U. S. consul Joseph Hill, came after a day of violence in downtown Santo Domingo which saw howling street mobs threaten for a time to overwhelm tank and troop patrols.

Combat troops used tear gas grenades and noise bombs to hold off attacks by several thousand screaming opposition members. They withheld gunfire to prevent major bloodshed. Alarmed opposition leaders ordered their followers off the streets.

The appeal for American aid in restoring political peace came from a group of about 200 Dominican professional people who converged on the U. S. consulate to present their plea. Their number include doctors, lawyers and other professionals who were the first to call for a general strike last Monday night when peace talks between the opposition and government collapsed.

"The United States can and must, in this hour of anguish the country is living in, place its influence and great moral force at the service of peace and legal order so as to avert the danger closing over us that a new military dictatorship will be established," the petition said.

The entire group tried to enter the consulate to see Hill but only its leaders were permitted to enter. Hill said he would relay the petition to authorities in Washington.

"Rocky" Back From Search

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, convinced at last that "there is little chance of finding my son", came home alone Wednesday after abandoning a heartbreaking personal search of the jungles of New Guinea.

Rockefeller returned here on a commercial jet from Amsterdam, last leg of his flight from the Pacific island of New Guinea. The multi - millionaire governor's search had taken him to the primitive and hostile shoreline where 23 - year - old Michael Rockefeller disappeared 11 days ago.

The governor's return flight completed an around-the - world trip that began in hope and ended in sorrow.

The 53-year-old Rockefeller refused to consider Michael dead, even though he admitted there was "little chance."

"Somewhere in the interior of the jungle, Michael may yet be found, living with some (native) Papuan family," Rockefeller said during a stopover in Amsterdam.

Kennedy Interview Seen As Opening New Frontier

By The Associated Press

President Kennedy's interview with Izvestia's editor was looked upon by much of the Western world as the opening of a new frontier behind the Iron Curtain that could bring better understanding of Western views.

Reaction was mixed among Russians interviewed in Moscow.

Most found it hard to believe ident to Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government paper, that West Germany has a puny nine army divisions and is no threat to the Soviet Union.

Several said they thought Kennedy showed unfriendliness toward the Soviet Union in several of his statements.

An Izvestia dispatch from New York, however, called the interview a "step forward in Soviet-American understanding." And office-holding Russians in Moscow appeared to regard that as a good thing.

A sampling in Western Europe brought these comments from persons met on the streets:

"Kennedy's arguments were excellent and crystal clear to anyone willing to give them a look"—Dutch law student.

"There is no doubt to me that this gives everyone some hope"—a Danish housewife.

"We don't want to be Communists and President Kennedy is right in telling that Russian fellow the people should be allowed to choose what they want to be"—post office employe Johann Schmitt in Bonn, Germany.

The Soviet press almost ignored the interview which the four-million circulation Izvestia printed in full.

S. America Trip Planned By President

Visit To Venezuela And Colombia Next Month Considered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Kennedy are considering visits to Venezuela and Colombia next month to demonstrate Kennedy's interest in the Alliance for Progress program, the White House announced Wednesday.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said discussions for the trips are now underway with the Venezuelan and Colombian governments. No final plans have been made, he said, although he expected a decision within a week.

Government officials said the trip, if it comes, is expected to take less than a week and would be in mid-December. It would be Kennedy's first visit to South America as president.

The purpose would be to dedicate projects being started in Venezuela and Colombia with Alliance for Progress funds. These educational and housing projects in both nations are the first such actual operations with alliance money.

Kennedy earlier had emphasized his interest in the economic development project in a speech before a special meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Commission of the Organization of American States (OAS).

He told the group that the United States has committed more than $800 million to the program since he proclaimed it last March 13 as a means to aid the development of Latin America.

"Measured by the past we have moved swiftly," Kennedy said. "Measured by the needs of the future we must do much better. And I can assure you that the energies of my government—and my personal effort—will be devoted to speeding up the pace of development."

He added that "I am determined to do even better in the months to come. The urgent needs of our people cannot wait. Their needs for food and shelter —for education and relief from poverty — and, above all, their need to feel hope for their future and the future of their children—demands attention and toil this year, this month, today."

Johnson Hails Bipartisanship

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Wednesday night bipartisan foreign policy has won "impressive successes" toward the building of a livable world community.

In a reply to critics who demand total victory in the cold war, the vice president said Americans could be proud of the gains they have made over communism in the struggle for the world.

"Our strategy and our successes are not the possession of any one party or administration," he said in a speech prepared for a Medico award, dinner honoring U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

"They belong to all the American people," he continued. "For they represent the labor and sacrifices made by all the American people over 16 troubled years since World War II."

Medico is a nonprofit organization founded by Dr. Peter D. Comanduras and the late Dr. Tom Dooley which sends American volunteer doctors and nurses thoughout the free world.

Stevenson was honored with Medico's "world humanitarian award," which will be presented annually, not necessarily in the medical field.

U.S. Red Leaders Will Ignore Law

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Communist party of the U.S.A. reiterated Wednesday that its officers will not register under the provisions of the Internal Security Act.

Thursday is the deadline for their registration.

The party leaders face prison terms and fines if they do not register under terms of the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950. The party itself ignored the registration deadline earlier this month.

White Men Beat Negro "Riders" At Bus Terminal

McCOMB, Miss. (UPI) — Five Negro "freedom riders," were beaten Wednesday by a group of white men at the McComb bus terminal which was recently ordered desegregated by two federal judges.

Three boys and two girls were dragged from the terminal's white waiting room after sitting at the lunch counter. The violence occurred shortly after a television photographer was beaten.

About 40 white men were waiting when the Negro group, who arrived here earlier Wednesday from New Orleans, turned up at the terminal.

They took seats at the lunch counter over objections of Aubrey McGee, who operates the terminal cafe and were immediately grabbed by the whites.

No policemen were on hand.

One member of the riders group, Jerome Smith, said the beatings lasted for 10 minutes. He said they were knocked down and kicked. One of them, Thomas Valentine, was thrown bodily from the terminal, said Smith.

Police Chief George Guy said he did not post policemen at the station for fear of violating a federal injunction against city officials enforcing segregation there.

Shortly before the fracas with the "freedom rider" group, Johann W. Rush, 19, of Jackson, a photographer making film for the Columbia Broadcasting System, was chased and beaten by a group of the whites.

The Negro youths attempted to integrate the terminal earlier in the day but found that both the white and Negro waiting rooms were locked.

PRR Keeps Dividend Record Unbroken

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Pennsylvania Railroad Wednesday kept its 114-year unbroken dividend record intact by declaring a 25 cent dividend despite a 10-month loss of $7,683,246.

The dividend, the only one to be paid this year, is the same amount paid in December of each of the three prior years. The dividend is payable Dec. 27 to holders of record Dec. 11.

Plane Crashes

NEWHALL, Calif. (UPI) — A twin-engine plane battling heavy fog crashed into a mountain near a Nike missile base Wednesday during a rainstorm, the sheriff's office reported.

Extremely bad weather hampered rescue operations. It also was impossible immediately to determine identity of the plane or how many persons were aboard.

Final Tribute Paid To Bridges

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Leaders of nation and state paid final tribute to New Hampshire Sen. Styles Bridges Wednesday and his body was laid to rest in a grave on a windswept cemetery hill.

Colleagues in Congress - Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., minority floor leader; Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., acting speaker of the House, and New Hampshire Gov. Wesley Powell—hailed him as a man of unalloyed patriotism, who had faith in America, a rebel against wrong, devoted to the right.

They spoke at a solemn public funeral in the stately, circular Hall of Flags of the New Hampshire State Capitol.

Northeast Hit By Heavy Snow

By United Press International

A blustery storm piled up to 2 feet of snow and 5-foot drifts on the Northeast Wednesday and the biggest Arctic air invasion of the season sent temperatures plummeting in the northern Midwest.

The windblown snow storm dumped 24 inches of snow on Montpelier, Vt., and 17 inches at Ellenburg, N.Y.

Drifts stacked as high as a man's head in some sections of upstate New York and northern New England. They closed schools blocked highways and virtually isolated several communities.

One death was attributed to the storm. A 17-year-old girl was killed when her car skidded on a bridge near Queechee, Vt.

The coldest weather of the season hit parts of Massachusetts, and tenement fires claimed eight lives in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Schools closed in three upstate New York towns and several northern Vermont communities.

Bonn, In Policy Switch, Gives Berlin Priority

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's new government set forth a new policy Wednesday, declaring that immediate negotiations with the Soviet Union should concentrate on abolishing the Berlin crisis.

Heretofore, the West German government has insisted that the Berlin question should be discussed only in connection with with the entire German problem —including the reunification of Germany and European security.

Government officials said it was safe to assume that Adenauer and President Kennedy in their meetings in Washington last week reached agreement on virtually all points brought up in a declaration of policy read Wednesday before the Bundestag, or parliament.

The declaration was read by Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in the absence of Adenauer who is ill with grippe.

"In regard to the question of European security it is the opinion of the federal government that this question has no connection with the Berlin crisis," the statement said.

Only when the Russians are ready to discuss the restoration of German unity can security problems be discussed, the government maintained.

Diplomats felt the reason for the switch is Adenauer's increasing fear that any talk about security outside global disarmament could lead to concessions such as a thinning out of military forces in West Germany.

Any establishment of security zones involving reduction of forces in West Germany, Adenauer has maintained, could mean the loss of West Germany to communism.

Adenauer said in the declaration that his meetings with President Kennedy "have shown once again that we—Americans and Germans—can rely on one another."

Evidence Against Ingot Found By Farmer Gold

JESUP, Ga. (AP) — Evidence continued to pile up Wednesday that instead of gold a bar of yellow metal dug up under a stump may be 65 per cent copper and 35 per cent zinc.

Arrangements proceeded, however to transport it in an armored car to Atlanta for final determination of its composition. It has been in a Jesup bank vault since a 30-year-old farmer, Guy Woods, reported unearthing it under a stump on a 100-acre farm for which he paid $5,000.

The metal was at first thought to be gold but an official of a Baltimore metal firm, Frank Muth, said it closely fits the description of brass ingots his firm turns out.

The description tallies, Muth added, down to the initials molded into the bar. Instead of standing for Federal Mint Denver or, more anciently, Federal Mint Dahlonega, Muth suggested the letters FMD probably stand for a subsidiary of his firm turning out the hunks of alloy—Federated Metals Division.

Government letters on gold bars would be different, both the Baltimorean and Washington officials agreed. Furthermore, they said, if gold, the bar would be smaller and heavier.

On a long chance that the metal may still be gold and worth about $12,000, U. S. Secret Service Agent A. B. Wentz in Atlanta said there is no change in plans to have an armored truck take the bar to Atlanta later in the week on a regular trip from Jacksonville, Fla.

'Enos' Circles Globe Twice As Flight Cut

Astronaut Named To Follow Trail Blazed By Ape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States rocketed an able ape named Enos twice around the world Wednesday and then named astronaut John H. Glenn to travel the same trail.

Glenn, 40, is a Marine lieutenant colonel with thinning red hair and an expansive grin. Navy Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, 36, was named as Glenn's backup pilot.

Announcement of the astronauts' assignments came at a news conference a few hours after the 37½-pound chimp had been launched at 10:07 a.m., on what turned out to be a partially successful flight.

Enos had been scheduled to whiz around the world three times but his trip was cut to twice around after the spacecraft developed troubles.

On his flight Enos zipped around the globe at altitudes ranging from 99 to 146 miles and attained a top speed of 17,500 miles per hour.

Enos landed safely in the Atlantic Ocean, 255 miles southeast of Bermuda at 1:28 p.m. He was picked up by a destroyer and was raced to Bermuda for medical examination.

The 5½-year-old chimp was due to arrive in Bermuda at 5 a.m., Thursday for a preliminary physical and he then will be flown back to Cape Canaveral.

No Crash Program

Selection of the astronauts for specific space chores does not necessarily mean that the United States is now embarked on an all-out program to place a man in orbit before year's end.

Indeed, Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, specifically declined to say what affect the Enos flight would have on U. S. space plans.

At the news conference Gilruth read a prepared statement detailing the astronauts' next space chores.

Donald B. Slayton was named to pilot the second orbital mission with astronaut Walter Schirra backing him up.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., who made America's first space flight was appointed technical director for the Glenn-Carpenter team.

Virgil I. Grissom, the second U.S. space traveler, was selected as technical adviser for Slayton and Schirra.

Second Chimp Mission Hinted

In a question and answer session with newsmen, Gilruth classed Enos' jaunt into space as successful.

Then Gilruth added: "The fact that this flight was successful does not say categorically whether the next will be a manned flight."

This left the door open for a second chimpanzee mission into space.

As for Glenn, he said simply, "I am very, very happy about this selection. Scott and I can work closely together. It is still a team effort. I think that is pointed up by the effort today."

As for the space craft troubles, Walter Williams, operations director, said they could have been overcome had there been a man aboard instead of the chimp.

Williams said the first evidence that all was not going as planned was turned up by the Muchea, Australia, tracking station.

"We made a close check at the Woomera and Hawaii stations," Williams continued," and then decided to terminate at California.

"This would not have occurred if a man had been aboard. Unfortunately on this flight we had to depend on an automated system."

35 Crewmen Taken Off Burning Vessel

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI)—A British steamer Wednesday rescued 35 crewmen from the Peruvian freighter Iquitos afire at sea southeast of Acapulco.

Radio dispatches to Acapulco port police from the master of the British vessel Cape Sable said the freighter was still afloat but in danger of sinking. Her position was given as 315 miles off the Mexican coast.

Kennedy Discloses Ideas For Control Of Autobahn

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Wednesday establishment of international control over the highway connecting West Germany with West Berlin will be one of the chief points in future negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy briefly raised the possibility of internationalizing the 110-mile-long Helmstedt Autobahn in an interview with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. It was published Tuesday in Moscow.

The West, the chief executive told the Soviet newsman, wants to maintain a limited number of troops in the city and have "an international administration on the autobahn so that goods and people can move freely in and out."

Kennedy's suggestion, State Department specialists said, represents the only idea proposed from the Western side thus far on how free use of the autobahn can be obtained.

Kennedy, explaining it at his news conference Wednesday, said: "What I am anxious to do is to work out some system which will permit freedom of access for the people of West Berlin without constant pressures and without harassments which endanger their freedom and which increase the tensions between the countries."

This means, officials said, that any formula developed by the Western powers for the use of the highway will cover both occupying forces in the city, and West Berliners.

Some kind of an international authority to control the autobahn's traffic and to guarantee Western access to it is under consideration, Kennedy told reporters.

The control agency could be the United Nations, the four occupying powers, or "some other body," he added.

Officials explained the President mentioned the third possibility to keep the door open for suggestions. One possibility would be a mixed agency under a neutral nations, similar to international control commissions in Asia.

Reservists

naveral, Fla. That was where the chimp was sent into orbit Wednesday morning.

Otherwise, the conference was on the serious side. It produced no major announcements, no new policy pronouncements.

The opening question at the news conference dealt with the Dominican Republic and whether the United States might use force to prevent, for example, any attempt by Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba to overthrow an existing government.

U.S. naval forces, Kennedy said, appeared off the Dominican Republic because of a "feeling that steps might be taken" there that would shatter hopes for a democratic solution to the country's problems.

On the broader phase of the inquiry, the chief executive said that as a member of the Organization of American States, the United States would be concerned and have responsibilities if one country used force against another.

As for a trip to the Soviet Union, during which he might speak to the people as Soviet Premier Khrushchev did on a visit to the United States in 1959, Kennedy said no invitation has been extended. While listing conditions, he didn't bar the door to a visit later on. Again mentioning Germany, Berlin and Southeast Asia, he said important problems "must be solved before such a visit would be rewarding on either side."

On assorted other topics, Kennedy had this to say:

FALLOUT SHELTERS—A civil defense program emphasizing community shelters will go to Congress in January. But a booklet will be distributed soon telling individuals what they can do in their own homes to increase their safety.

BERLIN — Negotiations hinge now on the outcome of a meeting next week between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

A spokesman said De Gaulle reported he was "very satisfied with the atmosphere of the talks, which were particularly cordial."

U.S. Sen. Dodd Eyewitness To Congo Violence

ELIZABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A first-hand encounter with Katanga violence against two white U.N. officials marked U.S. Sen. Thomas Dodd's tour of the Congo.

The Connecticut Democrat was an eyewitness to the manhandling of two white U.N. officials by a mob of Katanga paratroopers Tuesday night. The white-haired senator, 54, crouched on the floor of a U.S. consul's automobile as the driver sped through the crowd after rescuing one of the officials.

"Sen. Dodd now has a much deeper understanding of United Nations problems here," said the rescued official, George Ivan Smith, an Australian, who is temporarily chief U.N. man in Katanga.

Dodd himself said: "All is peaceful now. I have seen this before many times."

Violence against the United Nations has mounted in the capital of the secessionist Katanga Province because the Security Council adopted a resolution authorizing U.N. troops to use force to arrest foreign mercenaries.

A Gurkha U.N. soldier was found stabbed to death not far from the home of Katanga President Moise Tshombe. An Indian major who had been on patrol with the Gurkha was missing.

In Tuesday night's incident, Dodd, who was guest of honor at a party given by an American, arrived with U.S. Consul Louis Hoffacker as the Katanga soldiers were beating Smith and another U.N. official, Brian Urquhart, a Briton.

Hoffacker rescued Smith, put him and Dodd on the floor of the car and drove them to Tshombe's home. Tshombe's personal guard then obtained Urquhart's release. He was hospitalized with a broken nose and fractured ribs. Smith also had broken ribs.

Smith told newsmen that he and Urquhart were driving to the party at the home of American businessman, Sheridan Smith, when 20 Katanga paratroopers spotted their U. N. license plate. The two escaped into the house, but some of the paratroopers went in after them. They were being beaten with rifle butts in a truck outside when Dodd's car arrived.

Big Party Set For B&O, C&O Stockholders

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—About 500 stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads — who would like to merge—will be guests this weekend of the C&O's resort, the Greenbrier Hotel.

It will be the first of three package rate parties for stockholders of the two railroads and their guests planned this year, and the 12th in a series since 1959.

The party will start Thursday night when the stockholders will board trains in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond, Va., Huntington, W. Va., Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago, Cincinnati and points between for the trip here.

'Enos' Circles

Nearly twice around the flight seemed absolutely perfect. On each leg of the journey the reports from the 18 tracking stations and ships scattered around the world were flashed with a cheering monotony.

Near the end of the second orbit, the data flowing back to earth began to indicate something wrong with the space capsule carrying the 5½-year-old chimp.

There were indications of overheating in some of the spacecraft's electrical equipment and abnormal operations of the controls which maintain the vehicle on a stable course.

A signal to fire the braking rockets was flashed at 1:08 p.m. to the space ship from the Point Arguello, Calif., tracking station.

The space ship began the long descent, its blunt nose glowing like a fading comet as the temperatures built up to around 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

One purpose of the flight was to determine whether a U.S. astronaut could make a similar flight safely and whether a man could carry out manual tasks while undergoing prolonged weightlessness.

All the telemetered data from the space capsule showed that Enos was a real beaver for work and that weightlessness affected him not a whit.

Enos worked throughout for a pile of banana-flavored pellets and sips of water.

Another purpose was to test the world wide tracking and communications system. It worked perfectly.

Reapportioning Plan Outlined By Mahoney

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—George P. Mahoney, candidate for governor in the Democratic primary, described Wednesday night a reapportionment bill which he said he would seek if he is elected in the general election next year.

The Baltimore County contractor described the proposal in a so-called position paper outlining the campaign platform of the primary ticket which he heads.

Earlier Wednesday, Hume announced his support of legislation reapportioning the Maryland House of Delegates.

He said reapportionment never would be accomplished "until a governor . . . insists on reapportionment because he believes in it."

Reapportionment was one of the major issues before the 1961 General Assembly. Several bills were introduced, but were defeated by legislators from small counties despite Gov. Tawes' pleas for passage.

Mahoney said his first step toward reapportionment would be preparation of a constitutional amendment which would make it unnecessary to amend the state constitution each time the House seats are redistributed.

In fact, Mahoney recommended the action be taken during the next session of the legislature in February.

" . . . I recommend that the 1962 session send to the voters a constitutional amendment that would lift the apportionment of the House of Delegates right out of the constitution."

"Should it be necessary to have a full-dress constitutional amendment every time a change of seating is indicated as a result of population shifts?" Mahoney asked.

Removing the necessity of a constitutional amendment for reapportionment also "would authorize statutory reapportionment in 1963 and after each federal census beginning in 1970," the 57-year-old candidate said.

Mahoney said his second step—after the first one is completed—would be presentation of a reapportionment measure to the 1963 General Assembly.

NEW YORK (AP) — Does the stock market need a change of pace to keep rolling ahead?

Have investors' interests been centered too long in certain types of stocks?

L. O. Hooper, analyst for the brokerage house, W. E. Hutton & Co., thinks so.

He believes it's time for more attention to be paid to cyclical stocks and highly speculative low price issues.

Except for a few issues, institutional quality stocks have been carrying the ball, he says, and it would seem reasonable to anticipate that some of the demand for quality should spill over into the issues involving a higher degree of risk.

Up to now, he continues, such things as the steels, coppers, most of the machinery issues and most of the more speculative lower priced issues have been neglected.

Hooper is of the opinion that some of the quality issues, especially those with defensive characteristics, are beginning to be priced at levels where the risk level would seem to be far from nominal.

He cites steel shares as having done little recently, partly because fourth quarter production and earnings have been a little lower than expected, and automotive industry demand for steel has not been up to earlier expectations.

But a better feeling has developed in the industry, based partly on the belief that buyers soon will begin to rebuild inventories in anticipation of a possible strike next year, when wage and contract negotiations are scheduled.

Hooper believes that quarterly earnings could pick up sharply in first and second quarters of next year.

The two towers of the famous Chartres Cathedral are topped by totally dissimilar spires —one Romanesque and one Gothic. The cathedral was built during a surge of religious fervor in the 12th and early 13th centuries, the National Geographic Magazine says.

Three X15 Pilots Get Harmon Trophy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy presented the Harmon International Trophy of Aviators to three X15 test pilots Tuesday for their outstanding achievements in the rocket - powered research plane.

It was the first time that the three-man board, which annually selects "the world's outstanding pilot," has picked more than one recipient of the award for a single year.

Identical awards were presented to A. Scott Crossfield, a test pilot for North American, Inc.; Joseph A. Walker, chief test pilot and physicist with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Air Force Maj. Robert M. White.

They were chosen by the trustees of Clifford B. Harmon, a pioneer pilot and balloonist, who established the trophy in 1926.

Steel Outlook Brighter As Auto Industry Orders Rise

NEW YORK (UPI)—An unexpected sharp rise in steel orders by the auto industry points to a decisive improvement in mill operations next month provided the rate is sustained, Iron Age magazine said Tuesday.

Until recently, December operations did not look much better than November, it said.

There is little evidence that December orders are for inventory, the metalworking weekly said. Instead indications are that steel consumption, particularly by the auto industry, has picked up sharply.

The rush to build up inventories coupled with increased consumption orders has resulted in "quotas" on certain steel products, Iron Age said. Some mills currently are receiving orders at a rate to justify operations from 70 to 74 per cent of capacity.

Some of the new auto business for December is related to inventory building, but not all, the trade publication said. "But it is clear the the general tempo of business has picked up significantly."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Have you ever heard of the mounted fish who struck back at a human?

Or of the swimmer who was mistaken for a porpoise and shot through the left arm by a fellow human?

Documentation of such weird happenings are all in the day's work for the personal injury claims departments of insurance companies.

The above incidents fall into the "stepped on, kicked by or collided with an animal" category. In addition, there is the "insect attack" category.

The fish that got back at humans was mounted on a heavy wooden plank and hung with care. It fell from the wall and hit a woman on the head. She suffered a concussion and a four-inch scalp gash.

The policyholder whose "porpoise" claim was put in the "animal category" was vacationing at Cape Cod, Mass., when he decided to take a swim.

A Cape Cod resident who thought the swimmer was a porpoise did the shooting. The insured was paid $195 to help him recover from the case of mistaken identity.

Insect attack cases on file include one involving a young woman swimming underwater in El Dorado, Kan. She came up for air, opened her mouth. An insect flew in. She swallowed it. Her claim of $61.75 was for medical bills in connection with removal of the bug.

Some of the odd claims on file include attacks or damage by animals ordinarily well-behaved when in the company of humans.

A Jacksonville, Fla., businessman found himself cornered one day by a discontented cow. She gave him a pushing around which resulted in an accident claim of $1,875.

And then there is the case of the rather semi-civilized chimpanzee used in a jungle movie. He escaped from his cage on the movie lot, fled to a home in the vicinity, entered the kitchen, consumed most everything in the refrigerator, then took the door off.

When retrieved by his trainers, the animal was in the garage, driving nails in the roof of a car. The animal was judged guilty of personal property damage.

P. S. Claims investigators of an insurance firm verified none of these claims was fishy. A five year summary of personal injury claims included 1,458 such odd happenings. They cost the company nearly $150,000.

Nehru Charges More Territory Seized By Reds

NEW DELHI (UPI)-- Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said Tuesday the Chinese Communists had advanced a border post 12 miles deeper into the disputed Sino-Indian frontier territory. He warned that India will "conduct warfare" if necessary to recover border territory seized by the Communists.

Nehru, speaking in parliament, said Red China is showing an "aggressive and offensive attitude" in staging repeated incursions along India's northern frontiers.

In a note to China released Tuesday to parliament, Nehru accused Peiping of fresh aggression and said Communist "protestations to the contrary are only a cloak to cover up their renewed incursions and aggressive activity."

The note, part of a white paper on Sino-Indian diplomatic exchanges on the controversy, said the Chinese Reds had established three new checkposts in the disputed Ladakh area along the Kashmir frontier. It added the Communists had built roads linking these posts with rear supply depots.

It said Chinese Red troops had violated the Indian border 11 times between April, 1960, and July, 1961.

Following release of the white paper, Nehru told the lower house of parliament that Chinese forces had moved up one of their checkpoints in the Ladakh region by about 12 miles last summer.

Nehru said that once India is fully prepared it will take "effective steps to recover such territory in the possession of China."

"It is not easy to conduct warfare in this region," he said. "But if necessary this has to be done."

Auxiliary Project To Aid AMEF

Reports and discussions on safety featured the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Allegany Garrett County Medical Society conducted by Mrs. Howard L. Tolson yesterday at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Mrs. Thomas Lewis announced sympathy and appreciation cards are being sold to raise funds for the American Medical Education Foundation. Anyone may obtain them by calling her. The entire amount of money given goes directly to the medical school of the donor's choice. Administration cost is borne by the American Medical Association.

The budget report was given by Mrs. Emmett Jones. Mrs. A. J. Mirkin reported five Future Nurses groups in the county. Mrs. Tolson described the safety committee work being done by Dr. Gina Glick, who is making a survey of driver education program in all 14 high schools in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Further plans were discussed for Doctor's Day, March 30. The January meeting was changed to the 12th, at which time Mrs. Mirkin will give a book review.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin, local surgeon, member of the National American Medical Association committee on medical aspects of automobile safety, past president and now one of the directors of the American Association for Automotive Safety, was guest speaker.

He pointed out that the first automobile accident was in 1899 and by 1960 there had been three million. There are 6,000 injured every day and 50 per cent of all fatal accidents involve at least one drinking driver, he said, and stressed the advisability of safety belts. Luncheon followed the meeting and talk.

CORE Plans Rt. 40 'Freedom Ride' Dec. 16

By The Associated Press

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) announced in New York Wednesday that it would stage a "Freedom Ride" Dec. 16 along U.S. 40 between Baltimore and Wilmington, Del.

At the same time, the Maryland Commission on Inter-racial Problems and Relations approved in Baltimore a new public accommodations bill to give Negroes equal service in Maryland hotels and restaurants.

A CORE spokesman in New York said about half of the 72 restaurants between Baltimore and Wilmington now serve Negroes and will not be visited by the riders two weeks from Saturday.

CORE had planned such a ride Nov. 8 but called it off when 35 Maryland restaurant owners and 12 in Delaware publicly announced they would integrate their facilities. Core said at the time it would reinstate the demonstration if the other restaurants did not serve Negroes by Dec. 15.

Marvin Rich, of CORE's New York headquarters, announced last Sunday that 16 of 19 restaurants checked this month had integrated as promised. He said 16 more of the 35 which pledged integration would be tested this week.

The Freedom Ride originally was planned after a number of incidents in which African diplomats were refused service on U.S. 40. The highway, a favorite route between Washington and New York, reaches 64 miles from the Baltimore City line to the Delaware Memorial Bridge. Forty - seven miles are in Maryland and the remaining 17 in Delaware.

The CORE spokesman said Wednesday tactics for the trip along the highway would be made at a meeting in New York Monday.

The Maryland commission, after its meeting in Baltimore, would not disclose particulars of its bill and said details would be made public at a later date.

A source close to the commission, however, said the bill would transfer enforcement from the attorney general's office, as provided in an existing proposal, to the commission itself.

Otherwise, the bill was understood to follow generally the legislation drafted by Maryland's Legislative Council and endorsed by Gov. Tawes.

The main objection by critics of that proposal had been that all complaints against restaurateurs would be screened by the attorney general's office. The contention was the bill would result in few convictions because of the political nature of the state's attorney's office in most counties.

The commission hopes to meet with Tawes next week to ask him to support the new public accommodations bill. It had expected to meet with the governor this week, before a Friday meeting with representatives of anti-segregation demonstrators and restaurant owners. But the governor scheduled a Wednesday night departure for an educational conference in Louisville, Ky., and will be away during the weekend.

It was understood the commission expects to put its bill before the legislature as an amendment to the Legislative Council proposal.

"We believe we have a better bill," said Rabbi Israel Goldman, commission vice chairman, after Wednesday's meeting.

Meanwhile, a CORE official reiterated his group's opposition to the accommodations bill drafted by the Legislative Council.

Julius Hobson of Washington, eastern representative of CORE, said:

Cent Hike In Md. Property Tax Next Year Eliminated

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland property owners will pay a penny less on their state tax rate next year than was originally anticipated.

The Board of Public Works announced Wednesday it has set the rate on real and personal property at 15 cents per $100 valuation for calendar 1962, the same rate collected for this year.

The rate had been scheduled to rise to 16 cents Jan. 1. It is determined by the amount of state debt to be redeemed for capital improvements projects. The Board of Public Works, made up of the governor, comptroller and state treasurer, has authority to adjust the rate set annually by the legislature if later conditions merit.

State tax authorities report that the assessable basis for state tax purposes will rise from $9.9 billion this year to nearly $10.5 billion in 1962, an increase of $526,687,600. The increased wealth is $151 million more than was anticipated when the legislature met last January.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said a low interest rate on state bonds and "the very prudent and efficient management of the state's capital improvements program" were also factors in holding the line at 15 cents.

Truck Hauling 150-Foot Tank Snarls Traffic

BALTIMORE (AP) — A truck hauling a 150-foot long tank smashed traffic lights and snarled traffic during Baltimore's morning rush-hour traffic Wednesday.

Henry A. Barnes, transit-traffic chief for the city, said the Baltimore Transit Co. complained the truck impeded some buses for up to 45 minutes.

"It apparently hit a number of our overhead traffic signals," Barnes said.

A long line of horn-blowing motorists was behind the truck when it was halted at Monroe Street and Wilkens Avenue after it failed to negotiate the curve.

The driver was given a suggested route through Baltimore Tuesday, but the Bureau of Highways rejected it because the load was too big for some of the bridges.

Barnes said an alternative route was suggested, subject to approval by the bridge division of the Bureau of Highways. The driver apparently obtained a permit for the alternate route without checking it with the bridge division, Barnes said, then somehow deviated from the route Wednesday.

Fire Destroys Supermarket

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Charleston's worst fire in nearly a year resulted in the destruction of one of the city's oldest supermarkets Wednesday.

Six city fire companies battled the blaze which caused an estimated $250,000 loss at a big A&P store on the fringe of the city's downtown area.

Seven firemen were inside the one-story brick structure when an accumulation of gases and hot air exploded, but no one was seriously injured. Firefighting attempts were hampered by bitter cold temperatures which froze water around the building and on firemen.

The blaze was brought under control about two hours after it was first reported at 3:23 a.m. A quantity of lard and fuel oil was not completely extinguished and four fire companies remained at the scene during the day. Origin of the fire was not immediately known.

Arson Suspected In Library Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police investigated Wednesday the possibility of arson in a fire which severely damaged the Middle River branch of the Baltimore County Public Library.

The blaze destroyed about 90 per cent of the children's collection of books and there also was extensive damage to the adult collection.

The one-story library also housed the Health Department. The fire was discovered about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, and quickly was brought under control.

Costly Negligence

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A Hungarian commission reports many thousands of valuable art objects have been lost from state museums through negligence. It said one valuable vase sent to Czechoslovakia for exhibition turned up later for sale in a Budapest state-run store.

Maryland News In Brief

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Marylanders landed fish, oysters, crabs and clams worth $7.7 million during the first nine months of this year, federal and state agencies reported Wednesday.

The catch of 50 million pounds of fish and shellfish was down from 53 million pounds during the comparable period of 1960. Last month's catch was 9.2 million pounds during the comparable period of 1960. Last month's catch was 9.2 million pounds, up 5 per cent in quantity but down 14 per cent in value from September a year ago.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland residents were paid more than $2.5 million in unemployment benefits during October, up 2.7 per cent for an increase which ended a seven-month downward trend.

Stephen C. Cromwell, executive director of the Department of Employment Security, attributed the rise in unemployment to seasonal layoffs in apparel and food processing and some job separations in durable goods.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A couple and their five foster children were forced from their four-room frame home in suburban Dundalk Wednesday when fire destroyed a section of the living room.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started near a coal oil stove and spread to the living room wall.

WOODBINE, Md. (AP) — Four cars of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight train derailed near this Carroll County town Wednesday.

The 101-car train was eastbound from Cumberland to Baltimore when the accident happened just 70 feet from the Howard County line. No one was injured. The tracks were blocked for more than 10 hours.

One of the cars which derailed struck a moving firm's warehouse stocked with household goods and destroyed it. The four walls caved in and the roof collapsed.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stevedores loaded 250 tons of frozen cherries aboard the S. S. Havorn Wednesday in what was called the first such shipment bound for Europe.

The Great Lakes Cherry Producers Marketing Cooperative said the cherries grown in New York, Michigan and Wisconsin would be shipped to Rotterdam for use in pies, pastries, preserves and canning.

BALTIMORE (AP(— The thief who hit the service station in suburban Anne Arundel County will be ready for winter, anyway.

Besides $45 in cash, policy said, the safe that was stolen contained four sets of chains worth $75.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) — A veteran of eight years on the city council died here Tuesday night following a recent operation.

Councilman Percy E. Coakley, 68, was a retired employe of the Veterans' Hospital at Perry Point and a past commander of the Joseph L. Davis American Legion Post here. A native of Havre de Grace, he had undergone major surgery at Harford Memorial Hospital early this month. He is survived by his wife and son.

Pair Cleared In Murder Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — Charges of murder were dropped Wednesday against Orlando (Londos) Perrera and Benjamin (Hittie) Wildstein.

They were indicted on charges of first degree murder after Edward J. Castranda, a used car salesman, was slain in his station wagon July 15 outside a Pulaski diner.

Angelo Perrera won a directed acquittal last week in the Carroll County court of Judge James E. Boylan Jr. Assistant State's Attorney Charles E. Moylan Jr. declined to prosecute the charges against the younger Perrera and Wildstein because of the older Perrera's acquittal.

A witness, James Henry Bowen, has been charged with perjury by the Baltimore grand jury in connection with two sworn statements given in connection with the case.

Susquehanna Bridge Bids Asked

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland State Roads Commission has asked for bids in the construction of a second one-mile bridge over the Susquehanna River.

Bids on a contract involving the span's sub-structure and on another involving its super-structure are to be advertised Dec. 5 and opened Jan. 4, John B. Funk, chairman-director of the commission, said Wednesday.

Kennedy's Verdict On Food Stamp Expansion Due Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy must decide within the next 60 days whether to expand his experimental food stamp plan into a major new frontier welfare program.

What's the outlook for the project designed to help improve the diets of needy families?

Agriculture Department officials say the six-month-old stamp plan has cost less than expected so far and has been relatively free of any serious administrative snarls.

Preliminary studies also indicate that regulations generally have been obeyed despite fears that the project might attract cheaters.

Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said recently that was in favor of a limited expansion of the food stamp plan beyond the eight economically depressed areas now being helped.

Freeman told newsmen he was opposed to extending the program to nationwide status at this time. But he said he was satisfied with the way the pilot projects were running.

Kennedy's verdict on whether to expand the pilot projects into a full-scale national welfare program apparently depends on data being processed by electronic computers at the Agriculture Department.

The machines are tabulating information gathered in interviews with 600 families receiving free food through the stamp plan.

The data was expected to show whether the free food actually improved the diet and increased the food consumption of recipients.

As of October, more than 135,000 persons were participating in the stamp plan in selected communities in Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Needy families exchange the amount of money they normally would spend for food for an allotment of food coupons worth more money when traded for food at the grocery.

Families with little or no income receive the coupons without payment.

Through August, the average subsidy was about $1.66 per person per week.

In the eight test areas, the stamp plan has replaced the surplus food distribution programs which give the recipient no choice of foodstuffs.

The Agriculture Department reported that in October, it distributed $2.8 million in stamps, about the same as for each month since the program was launched.

Before the experiment started, it had been estimated that it would cost between $3 million and $4 million monthly.

Only four serious violations have been detected to date, according to the Agriculture Department. Most of the cases involved stores which gave out non - food items for the stamps.

CAMP DRUM, N.Y. (UPI) — A peacetime maneuver with all the trimmings of actual warfare will get under way here Dec. 12 when paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division invade this giant military installation in exercise "Trailbreak," the divison's wnter training problem.

About 1,400 men of the 1st Airborne Battle Group, 325th Infantry, will get the exercise under way officially after weeks of intensive training and preparation, including acclimitizing themselves to cold weather conditions. Some of the units have been here since Nov. 25 preparing for the big jump.

New Tractor Tire Has More "Bite"

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new farm tractor tire with more soil "bite" and up to 40 per cent more traction was introduced here Tuesday by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Known as the "super-torque" and possessing "Z" shaped tread lugs, the tire is the first major departure from a basic industry rear tractor tire design since 1936, the company said.

Each lug is 30 per cent higher, enabling the tire to bite deeper into the soil for better and more uniform traction and greater fuel economy.

News Commentary

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman used a mighty muscle in throwing a punch at communism after his recent month-long trip around the world.

That muscle is the tremendous production capacity of the American farmer, and U. S. agriculture as a whole.

This production capacity, coupled with American generosity in feeding hungry peoples, just could convince some unaligned nations that it is far better to be fed than Red.

Furthermore, it could be the direct cause of tremendous economic growth in the United States. It could expand world trade to such an extent that participating countries also would show extraordinary growth.

Freeman, after visiting a dozen countries in Europe, the Middle East and Southeast Asia, returned with a feeling of thankfulness for the productivity of American agriculture.

"The greatest single source of strength in the struggle to insure that freedom prevails around the world," Freeman told a news conference, "is the success of American agriculture and the American farmer.

"It is the strongest deterrent to the spread of communism because the contrast between American agriculture and that of the Communists is apparent to the whole world."

Freeman said the failure and inefficiency of Soviet agriculture and the collapse of the commune agriculture in Red China "is an ever present symbol of the difference between democracy and communism."

This was a point Freeman attempted to bring to nations where farming is the primary occupation for 60 to 80 per cent of the people. He is trying to make the same point to Americans in his fight to raise American farm income.

Freeman missed no opportunity to slug the Communists with American agriculture.

He told audiences around the world that while the United States was sending a team of agricultural experts to analyze the needs of developing nations, "the Soviet Union was spewing radioactive poison into the atmosphere." He reminded the peoples of other countries, too, that the United States had made $9 billion worth of food and fiber available to developing countries.

A solid clincher in his argument for American agriculture was the fact that family owned and operated farms in the United States make it possible for one farmer to feed 23 Americans and three other persons elsewhere in the world. This stands in sharp contrast with the problems of Soviet agriculture where one farmer can feed only six persons, and where 45 per cent of the labor force is needed in farming.

Russian announcements and unannounced intelligence reports show that the Soviet Union has plenty of nuclear might. But it makes no boasts on agricultural productivity. Other intelligence reports indicate they are frightened of the U.S. capacity to produce food.

It just could be that this productivity muscle could be the deciding factor in the wooing of men's minds in the cold war between free peoples and the Communists.

Freeman is working on that thesis in promoting the glories of American agriculture around the world.

University Apologizes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)— The University of Minnesota apologized Wednesday for the burning of a Russian flag on the university campus.

The flag was burned Tuesday by an unidentified man. It had been flying in front of the university Student Union building, where a Russian medical exhibit is being shown.

University President O. Meredith Wilson wrote his apologies to Dr. Viktor Zhdanov, director of the exhibit.

Total pounds of food distributed during the first nine months of the fiscal year to schools and charitable institutions in the U. S. were 15 per cent above last year, according to the Cooperative Extension Service, West Virginia University.

Kidnap Charge Is Dropped

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — A kidnaping charge has been dropped against a 21-year-old Wheeling youth after his girl friend testified at a hearing that she was not forced into his car here Friday.

James E. Hoffman had been accused of abducting Diana Krenzel, 18, Bridgeport, Ohio. It was alleged that he forced her into his car near an office building where she works and drove off. They were the object of an intensive search for about 10 hours.

The two arrived back in Bridgeport late Friday night after a trip to Pittsburgh and Hoffman was immediately arrested. He was brought back here on a kidnap charge but the charge was dropped on motion by Prosecutor Thomas P. O'Brien after Miss Krenzel testified at a hearing that at no time was she under duress while with Hoffman.

Earlier, she was quoted as saying, "It was just a lover's quarrel."

Naval Academy Will Present "Messiah"

Commissioner Urges W. Va. Support For Students' Junior Achievement Plan

PRINCETON, W. Va. (UPI) — State Commerce Commissioner Hulett S. Smith called Tuesday for statewide support of a Junior Achievement program to give students "the know-how to go into their own businesses and industries upon graduation."

Smith told a Chamber of Commerce dinner here that the nationwide JA program would help "turn the tide of the migration of our high school students into other states to find their opportunities."

Junior Achievement is a program in which 15 to 19-year old organize and operate their own small - scale business enterprises with local businessmen serving as advisers. Smith said there are more than 4,000 such enterprises operating in the country, but only two in West Virginia—at Moundsville and New Martinsville.

He said national JA officers will meet with state officials in January to map a drive to expand the program in West Virginia.

"I envision the 'graduates' of JA programs in the state as remaining here to start their own businesses and industries and become the bulwark of economic growth and development in the state in the years ahead," he said.

Under the program, students organize a business in September, selling stock in the community to raise capital, and liquidate the following June. Smith said that more than 75 per cent of all JA companies realize a profit, while those that do not pro-rate remaining assests among stockholders.

Both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans can be seen from the peak of Mt. Irazu, Costa Rica.

Comprised of 42 hospitals, the voluntary association also chose Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Baltimore's Episcopal Church of the Messiah and board president of Church Home and Hospital as vice president. Sister M. Heart And Cancer Leading Causes Of W. Va. Deaths

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)--Heart diseases and cancer accounted for more than half the deaths in West Virginia last year, State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Tuesday. This was rather expected but Dyer was concerned about an increase in the number of persons who took their own lives.

Dyer said 18,040 West Virginians died during 1960, including 6,871 from heart disease and 1,580 from cancer. The leading 10 causes of death in West Virginia followed generally the nationwide pattern.

The one major difference was death by suicide. It ranked eighth in West Virginia and 11th or 12th nationally.

"We are at a loss to explain the reason suicide is now the eighth leading cause of death in West Virginia, while it is not represented in the top 10 causes in the nation," Dyer said. "Certainly, further investigation is indicated."

There were 249 suicides last year in the state.

Among other major causes of death in West Virginia last year were diseases of the nervous system (2,158), accidents of all types (1,085), pneumonia and influenza (844), diabetes (271) and congenital malformations (227).

Dyer said he is convinced that at least one third of those who die from cancer each year could be saved by early diagnosis and effective treatment.

"Our people must be made aware of the value of knowing the danger signals of this disease and the imperative need for consulting their physician when these symptons are present," Dyer said.

Of 1,085 death-producing accidents last year, 634 were non-traffic, including 230 fatal home accidents, Dyer noted.

Meanwhile, a department weekly report noted that the number of infectious hepatitis cases dropped last week to 24, two below the week before. But, Dyer added that a "continuing high incidence...lends weight to the possibility that the worst is not behind us."

So far this year, 1,476 new cases of the disease have been reported in West Virginia, compared with 784 this time in 1960, Dyer said. Of the 24 last week, 12 were in Berkeley County and the others in Greenbrier, Hancock, Harrison, Kanawha, Monroe and Raleigh.

Predicts Moon Flight

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin predicted Wednesday the first manned flight to the moon will take place soon.

Russia's first astronaut arrived here to begin a nine-day visit in India and said he would like to "fly to Venus and see what's hidden behind its cloudy atmosphere."

Preston County Gets New School Lunch Plan

By United Press International

A new experimental school lunch program got under way Tuesday in three West Virginia counties and, if successful, it may be adopted by other states.

The program is being tested in certain schools located in Fayette, Preston and Webster counties. It calls for distribution of "bag lunches" to youngsters where school kitchen facilities are not available.

The plan, designed to improve the diet of school children who cannot get the so - called "hot lunches," provides students such things as sandwiches, a fruit or vegetable and milk.

Pupils who can afford it, will be charged 20 cents for the lunch. However, others without the money will get the food without charge.

Officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture were on hand for the start of the program in Fayette County.

Prior to start of the plan, the children were given medical examinations. At the end of the school term, they will be given another medical check to see what effect, if any, the "bag lunches" had on their physical condition.

After stuffing your Thanksgiving turkey, sew the bird with dental floss. The nylon floss holds better than thread and won't crumble or tear on removal. It slips through meat more easily than ordinary thread.

A strong, youth male elephant is worth up to $1,400 in East Pakistan.

Figaro Bob Pulls Upset At Aqueduct

Wins Remsen 'Cap And Pays $40.90

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP) — Alexander J. Ostriker's Figaro Bob scored an upset victory in the 48th running of the $29,600 Remsen Handicap for 2-year-olds at Aqueduct Race Track today.

The son of Some Chance-Densa Doll, ridden by Jockey Johnny Rotz, who was accounting for his fourth winner on the card, stepped the mile in the moderate time of 1:36 4/5.

Figaro Bob won by a length over Ada L. Rice's Daddy R., who necked Darby Dan Farm's Melanion for the place. George W. Widener's Endymion was a nose out of the money.

Always close to the early pace set by Brookfield Farms' In Force, Figaro Bob took the lead in deep stretch and drew out.

Figaro Bob, lightly held in the betting by the crowd of 22,410, returned the across the board mutuels of $40.90, $15.20 and $6.70. Daddy R. paid $8.30, $5.80 and Melanion was $3.90 to show.

The victory was worth $19,240 net to Mr. Ostriker, New York resident.

Rotz previously scored with Running Free, $6.40; Carlo T., $13.10, and Likely Prospect, $6.40.

Apprentice Rider French Is Injured At Pimlico Track

BALTIMORE (AP) — Apprentice Daniel French received minor neck injuries Wednesday when thrown by Jenny Judge just as the fourth race at Pimlico was to begin.

French, 19, was examined by the track physician, who said the injury was not serious but ordered French to take the rest of the day off.

Silver Shares Advance In Mixed, Active Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Widespread gains for silver shares and broad price swings in many individual issues featured another mixed and active stock market Wednesday.

Dow Jones industrials finished with a loss of 0.89 and the Standard & Poor's 500 stock index shed 0.05.

Of the 1,320 issues traded, 528 advanced, 52 to new highs, and 610 declined. 14 to new lows. Trading totaled 4,550,000 shares against 4,360,000 in the prior session.

Silver shares were ahead boldly from start to finish with the openings delayed in some by accumulations of buy orders following the administration's decision to halt stockpile sales. This freed the price of the white metal which jumped 9⅜ cents a fine ounce in New York.

Among the most responsive silver shares were International, U.S. Smelting, American Smelting, Sunshine Mining, and Homestake Mining—all with gains of 2 or more points.

Blue chips moved widely in the averages. Featured were American Tobacco up 1½, Chrysler off 1¼, International Nickel up 1½, Sears Roebuck off 1¾, Westinghouse down 1 and Woolworth up 2¼. None of these changes seemed geared to any particular news development.

Dow-Jones rails dropped 0.12, reflecting a dip of 1⅛ in Illinois Central. The utility component tacked on 0.30 featuring gains of 2¼ in Pacific Gas and 1⅞ in Southern Cal Edison.

Silvers spotlighted the most active list featuring Sunshine up 2⅝ on 165,100 shares and Callahan Mining up 1⅛ on 81,200 shares.

Ford ran counter to Chrysler with a gain of 1⅜ in a mixed motor section. Steels were mainly down fractions although Wheeling buckled 2⅞ after slashing its dividend. Most chemicals slid fractions to a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Corn and oats futures declined Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade as good harvesting weather brought on selling. Wheat held steady, while rye and soybeans moved higher.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to up ¼; corn unchanged to off ½; oats off ⅜ to 1⅛; rye off ¼ to up ⅛; soybeans off ⅛ to up ¾.

After opening mostly steady; futures became uneven as traders moved to even up commitments prior to first delivery notice day Thursday.

Export sales helped support wheat prices, but the December met light liquidating pressure and lost a small fraction. Some traders sold March on spreads with Kansas City wheat.

The Agriculture Department announced that farmers had signed up 6,760,400 acres of wheat under the 1962 diversion program through Nov. 16.

December rye jumped off to a 1½ cent gain early, but prices failed to hold after short-covering was satisfied.

Soybeans moved unevenly higher near the close after ruling quiet and steady through most of the session.

Exporters said Japan bought 1,370,000 bushels of wheat and 110,000 bushels of soybeans. Denmark also took parcels of beans. Peru purchased 4,000 tons of soybean oil.

Outside markets were mixed.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You may know a lot about people but you don't know much about dogs.

In a recent column you said a 14-year-old collie is equivalent to a 98year-old human. You no doubt arrived at that figure by multiplying the dog's age by seven. This is an old-fashioned method and nobody who knows anything about dogs uses it any more.

The new system is as follows: Figure 25 years for the first two years, add seven years for the third and then add two years for each remaining year.

So you see Ann, that Collie named Blaze who dropped dead when he was left outside on the hottest day of the year was not 98 years old. He was only 54—and that's pretty young to go.—FIDO

DEAR FIDO: Thank you for updating me on the accepted method of equating a dog's age with a human's.

You very neatly lopped 44 years off old Blaze. Now if you could do as much for people, a lot of us would thank you. Arf Arf.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a gal, 18, who works in an office. My steady boy friend is a football player and I have no interest in anyone else.

A senile old wolfe who used to work in this office (but is retired now) comes back to visit a couple times every week. He paws, kisses and pinches me and it is simply nauseating.

I have tried anger and ridicule but it doesn't work. A sock on the jaw would land him in the hospital. What advice do you have?—SICKOFITALL

DEAR SICKOFITALL: Any girl who can't block a pass of a senile old wolfe is certainly not match for a vigorous young football player.

An 18-year-old girl who does not wish to be pawed, pinched or kissed knows very well how to make her feelings known. Kwitcherkiddin.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother's whole world revolves around what the neighbors will say.

I'm 16 and a good girl. If I have guests over they can't drink soda pop on the porch because the neighbors might think it's whisky or beer. A few of my boy friends smoke and my mother has ordered me to tell them not to come to our front door with a cigarette because the neighbors may be watching.

The last straw was when I wanted to go to a slumber party at my girl friend's house and Mom said no because the neighbors might see me coming home in the morning with a little suitcase and wonder where I had been all night.

My father can't say anything to Mom because he's afraid of her, too. If you tell me she is reasonable I won't say another word. But I DO need some help. —LONG SUFFERING

DEAR LONG SUFFERING: Your mouther is obsessed with what the neighbors will think — and this is sick. But a girl of 16 can do little but obey her mother when she has exhausted all persuasive efforts.

If, by the time you graduate from high school, your mother is still rigidly intent on her ideas of behavior, consider working your way through college (if you must—in another city.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Masons Plan Event Monday

Dr. William T. Fridinger will preside at exemplification of the 31st degree, and Arthur B. Gibson will conduct the 32nd degree. Assisting will be Dr. J. Russell Cook, Julius E .Schindler, Ralph R. Webster, William G. Barger and William Torkington.

Members of the Masonic order from Frederick, Washington, Garrett and Allegany counties will attend.

In Japan, a cook will devote as much time and attention to the arrangement and color scheme of food as he does to taste.

'Wad Of Stuff' That Floated To Earth Proves Balloon

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn. (UPI)—Carter County Sheriff Sam Frost said Tuesday that big wad "of stuff" that settled peacefully in the hills near here was a balloon.

"We don't know where it came from or what it's for," Frost said.

The plastic - like substance, weighing "at least a ton," floated to earth Saturday on a mountain at White Oak Flats.

R. A. Finney spotted it, was puzzled, and took time to investigate. He reported his findings to the sheriff's office.

When the world spread, residents cae from over the countryside to cart fragments home as souvenirs and to cover haystacks and tobacco seed beds.

Jerry Johnson of the Blountville Weather Bureau, speculated the balloon was similar to those used experimentally by industry for cosmic ray research.

"Or it could be any sort of military balloon," Johnson said. He said it wasn't a weather baloon, and there was little chance it was an offshoot of a satellite.

Frost said there was no identification nor instrumentation attached to the object, but a red streamer about 100 feet long was recovered.

"It covered a radius of about 25 feet and stacked up about five or six feet deep," Frost said.

PSC Plans Crack-Down

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Public Service Commission has launched a crack-down on municipalities which have ignored a regulation requiring annual reports on their water and sewer operations.

Scheduled for hearings next Monday and Dec. 7 are 34 municipalities which have failed to submit annual reports, some by as much as 15 years. They must show cause why they should not be forced, through the courts if necessary, to comply with the regulation.

PSC Counsel Robert Stewart said the towns have not been called in before because the commission had hoped to get them to comply through informal requests.

Stewart said about 30 other municipalities will be called in for similar hearings at a later date if they do not comply immediately.

Of the 34 communities scheduled for hearings next month, the town of Hundred, Wetzel County, has been delinquent the longest, 15 years.

Other towns scheduled for hearings next month include Belington, Bridgeport, Chapmanville, Chester, Glen Dale, Grafton, Grantsville, Harpers Ferry, Kermit, Keystone, Lewisburg, Lumberport and Mason City.

A rabbit's nest is known as a form.

Winnie Last Survivor

FALMOUTH, England (AP)—Sir Hugh Bateman Protheroe-Smith, 89, died Tuesday leaving Sir Winston Churchill as the last living officer of the 21st Lancers, who made the historic charge at Omdurman in Sudan in 1898.

Secrets Of Charm

Makeup At 13? It's Okay To Cover Up Scar

Two little girls, age 13, write their longing for a special cosmetic that will WEAR off, not RUB off. At their tender age, why? One has a small noticeable scar just over her lip. The other describes her trouble as a "large birthmark."

I wish I could tell them that such marvelous makeup exists. If it ever does come about, the inventor is sure to wind up a millionaire! Every woman in the world is waiting to become his first customer.

I can assure these young ladies, however, that many of the blemish-cover cosmetics now available do an excellent job minimizing facial marks. Just about all of them claim to be waterproof and to stay on for hours and to resist rubbing off. Most of them live up to these claims, within reason. A lot, after all, depends on the user . . . on the nature of her complexion, on the way she applies her cosmetic "veil" and on how much her face is exposed and handled once it is made-up. (It's the same story with "indelible" lipsticks.)

The only answer whenever camouflage begins to wear thin (be it rubbed off or worn off) is to remove it completely . . . and apply it afresh on a scrupulously clean face.

Ordinarily, I wouldn't think of recommending makeup of any kind for girls so young. A generation ago, not even a scar or birthmark would have been a good enough excuse for changing my mind. (And many of today's adults can testify how painful it was to bare and bear their permanent facial blemishes throughout those sensitive teen years!)

Happily, today's attitudes are more sympathetic. (And today's cosmetics are better, safer and so much more efficient that a little goes a long way.) So, if these girls are going to have to live with these marks for the rest of their lives, they may as well learn right now the best means and correct means for covering them up. There's no more point in making them suffer needless self-consciousness than there would be in withholding orthodontia or any other cosmetic improvement from a youngster "until she grows up."

Not that any facial blemish, permanent or temporary, is sufficient alibi for teens to paint their faces with gobs of goo . . . just because "Mr. Powers Says so."

What Mr. Powers does say is intended to encourage daughters AND their mothers to get together in working out a simple, suitable makeup plan for any real facial disfigurement. This is much better than preaching patience or letting the girls experiment by themselves. Even if they do hit upon a successful disguise, they might easily do permanent damage to their skin in the process.

In another column soon, I'll point out the specific do's and don'ts for these mother-daughter teams to discuss. Meanwhile, they might study my "Secrets of Skin Care," since real beauty is based on a clear, healthy complexion. Write me c/o this newspaper for a copy, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Salk Says Hopes Bright For Single Vaccine To Control Many Virus Diseases

DENVER (UPI) — Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of polio vaccine, said Tuesday it may someday be possible to produce a super vaccine which could control dozens of virus diseases and possibly help reduce cancer and multiple sclerosis.

Salk told a session of the American Medical Association's 15th clinical meeting that his killed-virus vaccine had virtually eliminated at least one strain of polio and polio as a whole "is no longer a public health problem in the United States."

He said it was conceivable that the killed-virus principle could be applied to develop vaccines for other virus diseases, and that these could be combined almost without limit.

Such a "multivalent" vaccine could be used to innoculate pregnant women and infants to protect the population against dozens of viruses and also cut down "the morbid and lethal influence of viruses in the atmosphere.

"If this were done, it is highly probably that this would have an effect on certain types of cancer, diseases of the central nervous system, metabolic diseases and some auto-immune diseases," he said. Multiple sclerosis is an auto-immune diseae.

Salk noted that there are now suspicions that some kinds of cancer are caused by virus. He pointed out that a vaccine which actually cuts down virus in the atmosphere would have value because "the viruses which may be the cause of a cancer may trigger the process and disappear."

Salk took note that the AMA House of Delegates last June had predicted that his killed-virus vaccine could be expected to reduce polio among innoculated persons, but not among the uninoculated population. He presented some figures at Tuesday's meeting to refute this view.

In 1960, he said, there were nearly 8,000 fewer observed cases of polio thar would be expected if the decrease were based only on the inoculated population.

"Thus, the unvaccinated segment of the population benefitted from the effects induced in those vaccinated," Salk said, and the vaccine "dampened" the actual spread of polio."

South African Heart Specialist At Hopkins

BALTIMORE (AP) — A heart specialist from the University of Capetown in South Africa visited Johns Hopkins University Tuesday to study special diagnostic equipment.

Dr. Velva Shire, director of the Cardiac Clinic at Capetown, is making the trip under the sponsorship of the Ernest Oppenheimer Memorial Fund for the Promotion of Science.

Dr. Shire is studying cardiovascular research, particularly angiocardiography. The University of Capetown recently acquired equipment for such research.

It involves injection of a substance into the veins of a patient which will show through a fluoroscope. A movie camera takes pictures as the substance moves through the heart. Specialists can detect heart leakage or damage by inspecting the pictures.

Moving Statue Called "Vandalism"

There is unceasing war between the apostles of progress and those who, with some reason, refuse to concede that every change is an improvement. Their latest skirmish involves the statue of Dr. Benjamin Rush, surgeon general of the Continental Army.

A new expressway will make it necessary to relocate the statue, which was erected by the American Medical Association on a hill at the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery in Washington. The Navy and the AMA want it moved to a small park on Pennsylvania Avenue. Interior Secretary Udall, saying he doesn't want to make the avenue an "outdoor Statuary hall," insists it should be sent to Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., to commemorate Dr. Rush's career as an educator.

The Udall plan is being denounced as federally-instigated "vandalism." Considering that Washington is littered with statues and monuments, not all of them artistic triumphs, some well-planned eliminations might be beneficial.

Still, the president of the National Academy of Design has a point when he insists that statues should not be moved on the suggestion of "politicians and interested laymen." Udall may be the finest secretary of the interior since Seaton, but that doesn't qualify him as an art critic.

Besides, doesn't Washington have a Fine Arts Commission that is empowered to make such decisions?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Extreme Rightist

I am asked by M. J. Crawford of Ridgewood, New Jersey, to define an "extreme rightist." The questioner wonders what President Kennedy meant when he referred to such in a speech in California.

Unfortunately, it is a meaningless term, just as "extreme leftist" would be meaningless. No one can accurately define such terms. It is unfortunate that President Kennedy did not use a more precise phrase.

Any thinking people divide themselves into various segments of thought and response to public questions. Let us define some of them as they now exist:

1. The Middle-of-the-Roaders are those who always go along with what at the moment is popular and acceptable. When Eisenhower was President, they held that whatever Eisenhower said was inspired; now, they hold that whatever Kennedy says is inspired. They are never wrong because they never differ from the popular. They serve any master who seeks their service;

2. Among those who are not so pliable are many who hold differing principles of life. These may range on what is called the Right from 19th century Liberals who fear the spread of the power of government to conservatives who wish to preserve the traditions of the country to reactionaries to whom all changes are repugnant; and on what is called the Left are those who would accelerate change and reform at various rates of speed to the Communists who would destroy our system of life and adopt Marxism.

When President Kennedy refers to the Right Extremists, he could mean such groups as the John Birch Society or the Minutemen who decline to recognize the course of events since 1914 and the vast changes that have already occurred in this country. They sincerely would like to live in the world as it existed when they were born; they would like to ignore the drastic social and economic changes that have taken place since they were born. They find these changes hateful. They opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt and they refuse to recognize that the New Deal did manage to make a violent change in our lives.

President Kennedy finds such groups distasteful because they are unrealistic. They fail to recognize that the Marxist movement throughout the world altered many of the accepted ways of life. Their children and grandchildren can describe these changes and their effects upon them. For instance, they can tell their elders that whenever they have to consider marriage, college, careers, any phase of life, they must consider the prospect of war, the menace of war, the delays that war will bring to their lives. The younger generation cannot go back to 1900.

President Kennedy is himself of this younger generation. He has been to war. His back has been broken by war. He has made a success in life but he knows how many of his colleagues and friends have become permanently crippled by war; he knows how many of them received "Dear John" letters; he knows the heart-break of unsatisfied aspirations.

But what undoubtedly shocks him is that the next generation to his, the youngsters, are conservatives to a greater or lesser degree. This younger generation rejects the cliches and truisms of the Liberals, the mouthing of the New Dealers. They seek to relate their ideals of progress to historic memory.

Just as the radicalism of the 1930's shocked the elders of that period, so the conservatism of youth today shocks the balding middle-aged of the 1930's. Adlai Stevenson may have been regarded as a philosopher of the 1940's but in the 1960's, youth seeks clearer definitions, a review of the relations of science and religion. They do not quote Thorstein Veblen or John Maynard Keynes, but they know such names as Martin Buber and Sydney Hook. Just as their forbears knew of Howard Fast, so today the youngsters know of William Buckley. Just as their forbears laughed at God, so do they in this period try to discover God. The world has changed, as it always changes, from generation to generation and only those stand still who are blinded and have grown deaf.

Thus, when President Kennedy speaks of the Extreme Rightists, he was disclosing the beginnings of grey hairs. He is moving to the middle of the road and will have to re-think his youth. It comes to all of us and when it reaches him, we shall have a stronger and more understanding man.

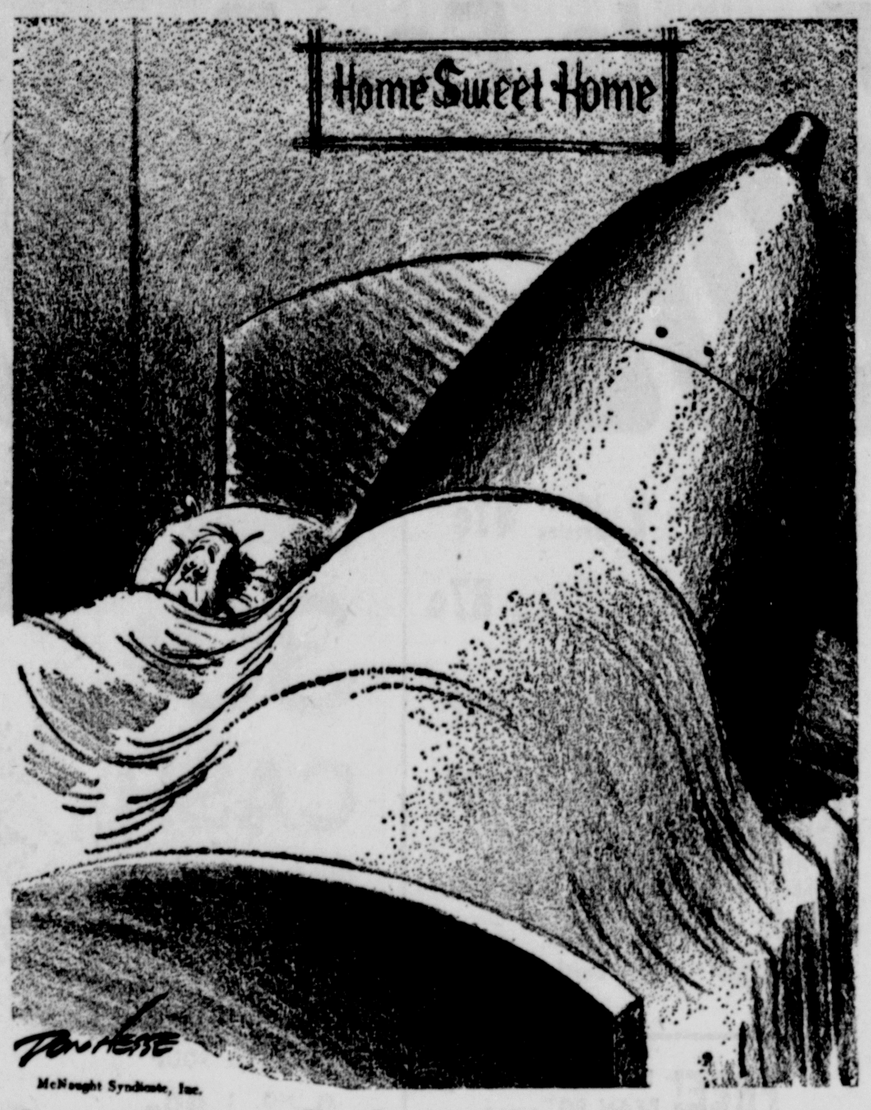
Guess We Might As Well Get Used To It



Why Not Include Politicians In Antitrust Laws?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — How honest is American politics, and how honest-minded are many of those political speakers who confuse, if not mislead, the voters in order to win an election?

The subject becomes pertinent now in view of a frank and candid comment just presented to the public by the New York "Times"— a supporter of Mr. Kennedy in the election campaign last year. The editorial says in part:

"The 'missile gap,' like the 'bomber gap' before it, is now being consigned to the limbo of synthetic issues, where it always belonged.

"The 'missile gap'—the prediction of an overwhelming Soviet superiority in intercontinental ballistic missiles in the early nineteen sixties—was the product of partisan politics and service—primarily air force—pressures. The same forces and the same Congressional and journalistic mouthpieces who manufactured an alleged bomber gap in the ninteen fifties sponsored, and indeed invented, the alleged missile gap in the nineteen sixties. Today, judged by the hardbitten estimates of actual Soviet strength, to which all the services apparently subscribe, the 'missile gap' has vanished; the quantitative advantage, if any, is on the side of the United States.

"The issue became one in part because Air Force intelligence estimates of Soviet missile capabilities, which were always far higher than other estimates, were used as political and propaganda footballs. The Air Force thought it had a good lever with which to pry more money out of the Administration and Congress. The Republicans, needlessly on the defensive, got a bad case of foot-in-mouth disease. The Democrats, then on the political out, used the alleged 'missile gap' as a club with which to belabor the Administration. The result was that a ghost, a shadow, became a synthetic issue, which obscured real national defense problems and confused the voter."

But the people of this country were not the only ones confused. Abroad the so-called 'prestige' of the United States supposedly went down on the barometer of the hour, and the Democrats began to demand that all the "prestige" polls obtained by governmental agencies abroad be published at once. Nobody took the trouble to analyze how much of the decline of American "prestige" overseas was due to the fault-finding and despair-crying groups of politicians making speeches inside the United States.

Some of the harm was partly offset later by President Kennedy, who, shortly after he took office, repudiated, in effect, some of the things he himself had said on the stump indicating that American defenses had been neglected. There is no telling how many people who listened to the "great debates" on television between Messrs. Nixon and Kennedy came to the conclusion that, if things were as bad as they seemed in comparison with Russian military power—as described by the politicians in their speeches — then maybe a change of administration was really necessary.

The Democratic platform had conveyed the impression of American military weakness. It said: "As a result, our military position today is measured in terms of gaps — missile gaps, space gap, limited-war gap."

Mr. Kennedy himself in a campaign speech in New York stated: "The missile lag looms larger and larger ahead." This was repeatedly emphasized by other Democratic speakers throughout the campaign.

Yet, shortly after Mr. Kennedy took office, he endeavored to change national psychology on this point and also to impress the world with America's military strength — certainly something that had not been built overnight and surely couldn't have been achieved in the few months after the 1961 Presidential inauguration. Robert McMamara, the new Secretary of Defense, was among the first to reveal that the "missile gap" did not exist.

Unfortunately, too many politicians in both political parties nowadays seem to think that "anything goes in politics" and that anything said to the voter is all right — even if, after the campaign is over, it proves to have been misleading. One cannot help but wonder if there shouldn't be a supplement to a recent speech by the Attorney General with reference to enforcement of the antitrust laws. He said:

"We are talking about clear-cut questions of right and wrong. I view the businessman who engages in such conspiracies in the same light as I regard the racketeer who siphons off money from the public in crooked gambling or the union official who betrays his union members."

Maybe there should be added now: "Or the politician—in or out of public office—who betrays the citizens generally, misleads the voters, and by mistatements of fact damages the prestige of his own country throughout the world."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CELEBRITY — A young lady, stylishly dressed, noticed a large crowd gathered at a top New York City hotel. She rushed to a policeman and asked him the cause of the excitement.

The member of New York's "finest" explained that India's Prime Minister Nehru was about to arrive and the people wanted to catch a glimpse of him. "May I stay and watch if I stand over in a corner?" she asked, wide-eyed.

The policeman gave his gracious permission and never knew that the nice girl he had been so kind was Princess Radiziwill, Jacqueline Kennedy's sister, who we're sure, could have met Nehru formally at the White House if she had asked her sister for an invitation to the dinner the Kennedy's gave in his honor a few days before.

BOSTON ACCENT — President Kennedy's Boston accent causes him to change "r" to "h" and vice versa. It has caused a lot of comment since he became a national figure and President.

But at last the idiosyncracy was put to good use. Kennedy, as official host, welcomed to Washington the head of the South Korean government, Gen. Chung Hee Park.

In his Bostonian way, Kennedy addressed him as Gen. "Pahk," but there were no raised eyebrows or elbow nudges on the part of his audience. It seems that in Korea, while the general's name is spelled P-a-r-k, it is pronounced Pahk, just like in Boston.

Mild Acne Usually Responds To Cleanliness

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Acne is the penalty teenagers pay for growing up. The lesions are associated with increased activity of the hair follicles and oil producing glands. The entire affair is triggered by an increasing flow of sex hormones throughout the body. The more hormones secreted, the greater the susceptibility to acne.

Oil escapes through the pores of the skin. Pimples develop when the opening gets plugged by bits of dead skin and dried sebum. The ensuing irritation leads to infection, with swelling and the formation of pus.

When inflammation spreads to neighboring follicles, a deeper and expanding lesion ensues. These become larger pockets of pus that ultimately rupture and produce scars. Deep lesions of this type should be drained by lancing rather than being squeezed.

Mild acne usually responds to cleanliness and the use of salves, ointments, and soaps containing a drying agent along with a specially prepared sulfur to make the skin peel and open up the pores. These measures usually work, so long as the boy or girl does not pick, squeeze, or fondle the skin. It is safer to use hot compresses on a pimple. Besides, the lesion heals faster and without scarring.

Diet may or may not help. Foods high in iodine or bromide, such as chocolate, shellfish, and iodized salt ought to be avoided because adolescents are highly sensitive to these chemicals. They often develop a drug rash that resembles or aggravates acne.

Antibiotics such as tetracycline may be helpful in more severe acne. Small daily doses usually do the trick. The cortisone-like hormones also are used when the lesions are deeper so that scarring can be avoided. The use of X-ray is hazardous and seldom is recommended today.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on acne if stamped self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Fatalities from accidents.

DIGESTIVE UPSET

A. M. writes: Periodically I get attacks of vomiting bitter gall. The doctors had two X-rays taken but they didn't show any gall bladder disease. What else could cause these attacks?

REPLY

Ordinary indigestion. Bile seeps into the stomach, especially when the individual retches. It has nothing to do with the gall bladder.

ABDOMINAL ADHESIONS

A. H. writes: I have heard that abdominal adhesions can become cancerous. Is this true?

REPLY

No. Adhesions seldom cause distress unless they pinch off or kink the intestine.

FOOT BLISTERS

L. I. writes: Is it true that blisters on the feet never should be opened? Once in a while I get one and would like to know what home treatment to use.

REPLY

An unopened blister rarely becomes infected whereas germs can be introduced when the lesion is cut or pricked with a needle. Wash the blister with soap and water and cover with a protective bandage.

SEDIMENTATION TEST

M. M. writes: Does a sedimentation blood test prove anything?

REPLY

An elavated rate usually means infection, especially in younger persons. Rheumatic fever, viral infections, and pneumonia are examples.

INCREASE FLUIDS

D. C. writes: In your article on dehydration constipation, I'm surprised you didn't mention bran as the simplest, most harmless, and effective cure and preventive of all constipation troubles.

REPLY

When dehydration is the cause of constipation it is easier to drink more fluids than to depend upon bran. Some owners of an irritable bowel are not able to eat roughage such as bran.

ONE SIDED WINKING

S. D. writes: Why is it that I can wink only one eye?

REPLY

I don't know unless it is because you never learned to wink the other.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

There was one Eastern railroad over which the late George S. Kaufman resolutely refused to travel. "I am convinced," he explained, "that every engineer on that line has an 8-year-old son who longs to get his hands on the throttle. They wait till they hear I'm going to be on board, and then they give these 8-year-olds their long-sought opportunity to run the train to their heart's content."

The manager of a motel was asked if he could handle adequately a party of eight teen-agers. "We have the room," he answered honestly, but I'm afraid we haven't enough outlets for their electric guitars."

An anxious mother was overheard cautioning her starlet-daughter in Hollywood recently. "For heaven's sake, be careful of your bridal costume! Remember you've only worn it four times."

Herb Stein reports this notice tucked on the backstage bulletin board of a London variety house: "Please don't ask for free passes for your friends. If they won't pay to see you—who will?"

Mexican President Dedicates Rail Line First Proposed 64 Years Ago

By Drew Pearson

ABOARD THE MEXICAN PRESIDENT SPECIAL.—All day this train has been creeping slowly over the great plateau of Northern Mexico. It is a land of dusty, adobe villages, an occasional grain elevator, a cluster of oil tanks, patches of sparsely planted corn, a lone cowboy driving a lean herd of whiteface into the setting sun.

Like Arizona and Nevada to the north, it's a flat, broken country, brown, dry, hungry for rain, set against a background of buttes and mesas rising in majestic loneliness from the plains, piles of hard rock which the erosion of centuries has not worn away.

Suddenly the train, which has been going slowly to let the President of Mexico greet cheering crowds along the way, begins to drop down from the two-mile-high tableland to the Pacific Coast below. The descent is steep, the scenery breathtaking.

The brown plateau gives way to green pines, and the white spray of waterfalls that plunge from mountain peaks, down to deep ravines beneath. The train rushes through tunnels, over bridges, whips around curves so sharp that the engineer in the locomotive can almost wave to the brakeman on the last car.

The descent down the mountain range is so circuitous that in one place I count three other trains winding back and forth below. All are sections of the President's special which carries members of the Mexican Cabinet, the Mexican Senate, Congress, business, labor, and other leaders on this inauguration of the first rail to be built in North America in the last 50 years.

Socialist's Dream

The railroad had been proposed 64 years ago by Albert K. Owen, son of the famous English Socialist, Robert Owen, who established the first socialist colony in America, at New Harmony, Ind. He and other Americans had proposed a short-line railroad from Texas to the Gulf of Lower California cutting off 1,000 miles in reaching the Pacific.

Their proposed Kansas, Mexico and Pacific line actually got under construction in 1897, aimed at connecting Kansas City, via the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the new railroad, with the Pacific. But revolutions in Mexico and wars in the United States intervened. Sixty years passed. Only half the line—that which crosses the dusty plateau of Northern Mexico—was built.

Three years ago, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, the do-it-yourself President of a do-it-yourself country, decreed that the final link of about 500 miles was to be completed. It took the engineering genius of Javier Barros Sierra, Minister of Public Works, plus a backbreaking job of transporting materials up the mountain range, to do it. But it was done. It was done without borrowing money from the USA and without getting any foreign aid or development loans from the USA. Mexico didn't even hire any engineering advice from the USA.

And the fact that this rail line has been built where early American promoters failed, has given something of a lift to Mexican pride.

It has also given greater unity to the country; because, unlike the United States which has six rail lines crossing the continent from east to west, no rail line hitherto had crossed Northern Mexico from east to west.

Old Hatred Evaporates

Northern Mexico was once the hotbed of bitter anti-Americanism. Here Pancho Villa raided across the border—robbing, pillaging, killing 16 Americans in Columbus, N. Mex. Here the great cattle ranches of Americans were seized. Here the armies of Madero, Obregon, Carranza and Huerto fought back and forth, with American citizens, property and good will caught in between.

Today, believe it or not, the city of Columbus, N. Mex., has named a park for "Pancho Villa," the Mexican bandit-revolutionary who shot 16 of its citizens in cold blood and burned part of the town. It's a gesture of friendship which Mexicans don't understand but which they appreciate as aimed at healing old wounds.

Today, President Lopez Matoes has been the guest of Vice President Johnson at his Texas ranch, something which no other Mexican President could risk doing politically. Resentment in Mexico would have been too great.

President Lopez Matoes also corresponds regularly with American Senators without going through State Department channels. Under strict protocol he should not do this, but the State Department is delighted to forget about red tape.

Most Mexican Cabinet members also confer person-to-person with their opposite numbers in Washington; while one Mexican, the famed movie actor Cantinflas, crossed the border at the invitation of Vice President Johnson to tip the scales for the election of the first Mexican-American Congressman from Texas, Henry Gonzales of San Antonio.

It's certainly a change from the old days and doesn't please Fidel Castro at all.

Mexico-Go-Round

Northern Mexico's greatest need is water. President Lopez is building irrigation and reclamation projects, but meanwhile lower California hasn't had one inch of rainfall in 12 years, Tijuana is so short of water that its city supply can be used only about one hour a day. There's a heavy fine for those who use city water to wash their cars. Most car owners drive to U. S. territory across the border to wash their cars . . . U. S. cities in this area tap the Colorado River for their water . . . Mexico is eying the Fairbanks-Morse desalinization process, developed in Israel, which makes fresh water out of salt water.

Freedom's Great Week

By John Crosby

It's been a great week for freedom. But what is it exactly? In Poland, for example, a nuclear physicist, Leopold Infeld, chairman of the Polish Atomic Energy Commission, has boldly asked for more "individual freedom," an extraordinarily daring thing for an official in the Communist world to do. And in the same breath the same individual decried the shrinkage of freedom in the United States as represented by the increasing difficulties of the Communist party in this country.

An American is likely to applaud the first sentiment and condemn the second as an intolerable interference in our affairs. That's the way it goes. One man's freedom is another man's subversion. Meanwhile, down in our own Southland, the Southern Association of Intelligence Agents has been formed to fight, you should pardon the expression, "subversion." "A lot of organizations besides the Communist party are subversive," declared one of the spirits behind this organization. In large areas of the South, for example, the NAACP is considered at least as subversive as the Communist party, to say nothing of being a more immediate problem. And while the Southern Association of Intelligence Agents was formed to fight "subversion," which is to say the colored race, a couple of Negroes tried and failed to be allowed to worship in Methodist and Baptist churches in Augusta, Ga.

So Freedom wins some and loses some. Meanwhile the Freedom Party in India celebrated its second anniversary, with the announced aim of battling Nehru's brand of socialism, admittedly a rather hopeless proposition. The Freedom Party believes in private enterprise and is largely composed of maharajahs and other bigshots whose wings have been clipped. The Indian Freedom Party uses the word pretty much like the Goldwater wing of the Republican party here uses it, which is to say, unlimited freedom for the very rich to be even richer and the very poor to be even poorer.

One thing about the word. It's popular everywhere. You can't really come out against freedom anywhere. In South Vietnam, for instance, we in this country are very much under the impression that we are defending freedom. But the South Vietnam newspaper "Thoi Bdo," reflecting pretty much what's being said around President Ngo Dinh Diem, has denounced American demands for reform as "intolerable interference in (its) internal affairs." On thing you learn fairly quickly in international affairs is that all interference is "intolerable." There's no such thing as tolerable interference in internal affairs or even just plain interference.

It's always "intolerable interference" or else it's not interference; it's something else. For instance, showing a gunboat (aah, shades of the nineteenth century) off the Dominican Republic is not "intolerable interference" *in their internal affairs; it's protect*ing the freedom of the Dominican people from the Trujillos. At least the current Dominican government thinks so and we think so and only the Trujillo brothers who were scared off and Castro who was kept off consider it "intolerable interference" in somebody else's affairs.

In Trinidad, Adlai Stevenson and President Frondizi of Argentine discussed, it is reported, Colombia's proposal for an inter-American defense establishment to protect Latin America from—that word again—subversion of Castro's forces. Colombia and our government consider Castro's activities a form of "intolerable intervention" by Cuba in the affairs of others and that some form of defense establishment is needed to protect Latin America from Castro. However, some Latin American countries — quite a few, in fact—consider any sort of inter-American action as a form of "intolerable interference" in Cuban affairs.

So there you are.

I suppose the only way you can tell whether freedom is being protected or whether subversion is being practised is by who's doing it to whom. If we're doing it (in South Vietnam or the Dominican Republic), then freedom is being preserved. But if they're doing it (Negroes in the South or Castro in Brazil) then it's subversion.

Secretary of Labor Goldberg has just said that the U.S. and Israel are the only countries seeking freedom, not only for themselves but for all the countries of the world. Freedom for everyone, that is, except the Arab refugees in Gaza who'd like to go back to their homes in Israel, but even the suggestion is considered "intolerable interference" in Israel's affairs.

The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 76 "The development of horse cavalry, in the modern sense, first appeared in the Southern forces during the Civil War. The great efficiency of the Southern cavalry, able to make sustained, rapid marches across country, expert in scouting and equally prepared to fight mounted or dismounted in battle, soon was realized by the Northern leaders . . . ." The quotation is from O. L. Spaulding, in "Dictionary of American History" (Scribner.)

The South produced a half dozen great cavalry tacticians, among whom Nathan Bedford Forrest and John Hunt Morgan were particularly notable. Neither was a West Pointer; both were businessmen when the war began.

Morgan, a native of Alabama who picked up some military experience in his twenties in the Mexican War, had located in Lexington, Ky. He took some time from his business as the Civil War approached to raise a company of riflemen. ("Morgan's Rifles," a regiment of sharpshooters formed by a Virginian, had won renown in the Revolution.) Consequently, in September 1861, the later-day Morgan, i.e., J. H., was commissioned a captain and given a squadron of Rebel cavalry for scouting.

He earned promotion within a few months to colonel of a Kentucky mounted regiment. In July 1862, he staged, in timed conjunction with a parallel operation led by Forrest, the first of the far-reaching raids that were to give Morgan a satanic reputation in the North and result in his being one of the Southern immortals of the war.

The Morgan activities are given dramatic attention again in a new book, "Morgan's Raid," by Allan Keller (Pub. by Bobbs-Merrill Co.). Although the grove of trees reached by Pickett in his celebrated charge at Gettysburg is generally referred to as "high tide of the Confederacy," the highest geographical point reached in the North by invaders from the South was Beaver Creek, Ohio, where Morgan himself reached the high point of his career July 26, 1863. Keller makes it a high point, too, in recounting noteworthy episodes in the war.

To Exchange Views

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Six Russian medical experts have arrived here to exchange views with U. S. scientists on polio, the Public Health Service (PHS) said Wednesday.

Among other things, the American and Soviet virologist will discuss the relative merits of the Salk injected vaccine and the oral vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin.

The four - day conference on polio is the second such U.S.-Soviet exchange. The first meeting was held in Moscow in May, 1960.

Naval Unit Names Metz Top Sailor

Raymond O. Metz, of Lonaconing, a shop clerk with the State Roads Commission, has been chosen "Sailor of the Month" by officers of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9, according to Cmdr. Gerard P. Calhoun, commanding officer.

Metz, boatswain's mate second class, has been a member of the local division for seven years, having enlisted while a student at Valley High School.

In announcing the selection, Cmdr. Calhoun pointed out that Metz had high scores on his petty officer advancement examinations, with marks of better than 3.0 in a 4.0 Navy evaluating system.

He also remarked that Metz was singled out by the division during the summer for a "reward" training cruise of four weeks in the Mediterranean Sea with the Sixth Fleet. He was the only member of the local unit selected.

Used as a basis for his selection, Cmdr. Calhoun said, was Metz' application to duty, military bearing, and drill attendance, and his completion of five military correspondence courses.

Married to the former Miss Dorothy Winter, of Midland, Metz is the father of a three-year-old girl.

Welfare Case Load Reported Down In Oct.

The report for October of public welfare costs in Allegany County shows 17 fewer persons on the rolls than in September.

Total expenditures for the month were $95,762.88. The largest drop in the caseload was for aid to dependent children, which is the largest item of public welfare, with 25 cases cancelled and 17 added.

A total of $38,505.74 was spent for aid to 960 dependent children from 354 families. The average payment per family was $108.77.

Old age assistance was given 507 persons for $26,360.16 with the average grant $51.99. Ten cases were added and nine cancelled.

Assistance to 17 needy blind persons cost $979.21 with the average grant $57.60. Aid to 283 permanently and totally disabled persons cost $15,278.37. The average grant was $53.99. Two cases were added and nine cancelled.

General public assistance was given 95 persons for $5,491.88 with the average grant $57.81. Eight cases were added and 10 cancelled. Foster care for 108 children cost $6,147.52 with the average grant $56.92 per child. Five children were placed in foster homes and six went out of care during the month.

Road Sections To Be Opened

Two new sections of U.S. Route 40 west of Hagerstown will be officially opened December 5 by Gov. Tawes.

A ribbon will be cut at 10 a. m. in a ceremony on the project near the city line of Hagerstown.

Opening of the new highway marks another step forward in the State Roads Commission program to modernize Route 40 to the west.

Also taking part in the ceremony will be John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC; Mayor Winslow F. Burhans, Hagerstown, and State Senator George E. Snyder of Washington County.

The two projects which will be formally opened are a four-span steel beam bridge over Route 40 at McDade Road. The second project is a dual highway just west of Interstate 81 to Prospect Street in Hagerstown.

The bridge cost $83,116 and the dual highway, including an interchange and relocation work cost $2,301,515.43.

prohibit questions critical of the Corps of Engineers, he stressed. The "screening" was done by two prominent Allegany County men, Julian G. Patrick and Owen E. Hitchins.

In his 40-minute presentation, Col. Johnson stressed that the most feasible answer to regulate river flows is by using storage reservoirs.

Five Purposes

These multiple-purpose reservoirs can be used (1) to store temporarily the extremely high flows during flood periods, (2) to release this water in non-damaging amounts after flood threats subside, (3) to store the water necessary for municipal and industrial use, (4) to regulate the flow in the river to insure the minimum quantity required at all times and (5) to partially satisfy the public clamor for recreation areas on or near the water.

Col. Johnson pointed out that the dams would not be built at one time but spaced as the needs arise over the next 50 years. These projected needs are figured on the basis on a basin population of 7,300,000 in 2010 compared with today's 3,000,000.

Other speakers last night included Alvin Watson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; William Rosencranz of the Public Health Service, John Wark of the Geological Survey and William Lawson of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Pintoettes Donate $28.50 To Cresaptown Firemen

The Pintoettes, a group of some 25 marching majorettes ranging in age from six to 13, have made a $28.50 contribution to the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company.

This contribution represented a share of the prize money the Pintoettes won in nine 1961 parades in which they participated.

"The Fire Company wishes to express its deep and heartfelt appreciation to the Pintoettes for their generous contribution and untiring support," said Fred Knobloch, chairman of the company's public relations committee.

"The Fire Company is indeed proud, as is the community, to have these wonderful children represent our area," he concluded.

Two Represent State At Meeting

John Curlett, president of the State Commission on Higher Education, and Edmund C. Mester, executive assistant to Governor J. Millard Tawes, are representing Maryland today in Louisville, Ky.

Representatives from 16 Southern states are meeting in Louisville to hear a report of the Commission on Goals for Higher Education in the South. The report is a comprehensive blueprint for action to guide the South in the next decade as it works to develop a system of higher education "second to none in the nation."

An unusual German-made automobile which can operate on land as well as water was demonstrated here yesterday afternoon in Wills Creek. The driver of the vehicle is Owe Behrns, a German engineer who brought the car here, and the passenger is C. R. Nuzum, city engineer. The vehicle is called a Amphicar and has a top land speed of 90 miles an hour and 15 miles an hour in the water. It is propelled by twin screws in the water and has a four-cylinder engine. Army Enlistees May Get Delays

Sgt. Thomas Walbert, local Army recruiter, announced this week that all personnel who enlist or reenlist in the regular Army during the period December 11 to January 1, 1962, through the local recruiting office may receive up to 15 days delay en route to their first duty station.

This means these enlistees may remain home over the Christmas and New Year holidays. The leave, or delay en route, if taken, will be charged against the 30 days per year accrued by every member of the regular Army.

Novel Sardine Spread Has Many Uses, Tasty

Here's a novel sardine recipe ideal as a sandwich spread, party dip or main meal appetizer. Mix 4 ounces of cream cheese with a liberal amount of lemon juice, until you have the consistency of a cream sauce. Add 1 tsp. of grated onion. Drain a can of Norway sardines and mash the sardines. Add the sardines a few capers black pepper and dash of paprika and salt to the sauce. Blend thoroughly. Serve.

To eliminate wrinkled edges on shirt collars, iron them from the collar points toward the back.

Kitchen Cue For Creamed Chicken

Creamed chicken just a menu filler in your home! Make it a family favorite by adding just a little New Orleans type molasses the next time. Brings out something hidden and the tart sweet aroma will have the family requesting it again and again.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Is it ripe enough for you, lady?"

"I'll take it back—you ARE the right weight for your height."

Tropical Pickled Fruits

1 can (29 ounces) cling peach slices
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple slices
1 teaspoon whole cloves
½ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ cup vinegar
1 3-inch piece stick cinnamon
6 maraschino cherries, cut in quarters

Drain syrup from peaches and pineapple into saucepan. Add ½ teaspoon of the cloves. Bring syrup to a boil; boil rapidly until reduced to ⅓ cup. Add the unsulphured molasses, vinegar, and cinnamon stick; simmer 5 minutes. Pour over combined fruits. Cool. (Flavor improves on standing). YIELD 1 quart.

Waffle Idea

When is a pancake not a pancake? When it becomes a tender, light waffle, of course. Here is a waffle idea, flavored with pineapple, to bring everyone to the table in a hurry. Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind. Separate three eggs and beat the yolks, add 1½ cups crushed pineapple, undrained, and 1 cup milk. Add the pineapple mixture to the flour mixture and then stir in ⅓ cup melted shortening. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold them into the batter. Bake waffles on hot waffle baker. Serve hot with butter or margarine and syrup. Or if desired, cool and serve with ice cream for dessert. Makes 6 servings.

Chicken Internationale

2 broiler-fryers cut up
⅓ cup cooking oil
1½ cup raw rice
1 large onion chopped
1 green pepper chopped
Garlic to taste
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 No. 2 can tomatoes or large cup tomato sauce
2 cups water

The above are the basic ingredients the dish may be varied by a choice of spices to make it suit one's own taste, or the occasion, for instance: Chicken Indienne — add 1 tablespoon curry powder. Chicken Italianne — add 1 tablespoon oregano and perhaps more garlic. Chicken Mexicane — add 2 tablespoons chili powder and a dash of tabasco. Chicken Creole — add 1 teaspoon seafood seasoning. Brown chicken in oil, then transfer chicken to a large casserole (3 quart). Saute the rice in same oil until golden brown, then add the onion, pepper, and garlic. When the latter has browned add the remaining ingredients and pour the rice mixture over the chicken. Cover lightly and bake in a moderate oven (350) for 1¼ to 2 hours. It should be done inside 1¼ hours but is not harmed by a longer cooking, which makes it an ideal Sunday meal for the busy mother who must plan a meal to cook while the family is at Sunday School and Church. That is one reason it is a favorite with me, but the way it tastes is the reason my family likes it, in whatever nationality it appears on the table.

Per capita consumption of fruits and vegetables, important sources of vitamins A and C, has decreased during the past 15 years.

Pork Will Satisfy

Canned pork and gravy is exceptionally versatile and may be used in a variety of combinations with other foods. It goes well with spaghetti sauce, as a pizza topping, in potato patties, and with scrambled eggs. Use it, too, with boiled or baked beans, in a creamy potato soup, and in ravioli. Or bake the pork slices in a casserole with a sweetpotato topping.

Try this delicious Pork Roll, a real treat as well as a hearty and nourishing dish.

- 1-½ cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
- ¼ cup shortening
- ½ cup water
- 1 tablespoon onion, chopped
- ½ can pork and gravy, chopped

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and dry milk together. Cut or rub in shortening until well blended. Slowly mix in water, using just enough to make dough that is soft but not sticky. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board and knead a few strokes. Roll to ¼ inch thickness. Mix the onion and pork and gravy together; spread evenly over the dough. Roll like a jelly roll. Cut roll into 6 slices. Place cut side up on a greased baking pan and bake at 450 degrees F. (hot oven) for 20 minutes. Serve hot with gravy. Makes 6 servings.

Kitchen cue: add two tablespoonsful of molasses to your favorite French toast mixture for a new breakfast treat.

Brown It First

The first step in cooking pot-roast is to brown the meat well on all sides. If the cut is dredged with flour before browning, a little fat should be added to the pan.

TRY TANGY SHRIMP AFLOAT

These saucy shrimp are in the dip already!

Tomato juice and cider are the secret of this taste tingling treat. Spices pickle the shrimp as they cook and herbs and seasonings mixed with the juices act as marinade and sauce all-in-one.

When the heat's on and party's planned, this wonderful appetizer or main dish can be prepared a day in advance right in the serving bowl and placed directly on the table when the company comes.

Shrimp 'N Dip

- 6 cups water
- 3 tablespoons pickling spice
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 2 pounds fresh or frozen shrimp
- 1 Bermuda onion, thinly sliced (about 1 cup)
- 3 bay leaves
- 2 cups tomato juice
- ¾ cup salad or cooking oil
- ½ cup cider
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon horseradish
- 1½ teaspoons celery seed, optional
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 dashes Tabasco sauce
- ½ teaspoon whole peppers

Combine water, pickling spice and 1½ tablespoons salt in large kettle; bring to boil; add shrimp. Bring water to simmering stage, cover; simmer gently about 8 minutes or until shrimp turns reddish-pink. Drain shrimp; rinse in cold water. Peel and cut out dark vein on back of shrimp.

Alternate layers of shrimp and sliced onion in bowl. Add bay leaves. Combine remaining ingredients; stir and pour over shrimp. Cover and store in refrigerator 8 to 12 hours or overnight. Serve as an appetizer or entree. Yield: About 6 servings.

Big Top Treat

- 1 package (3-ounces) cherry-flavored gelatin
- 1 package (3-ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 package (3-ounces) lime-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- ½ cup cold water
- 2½ cups apple spice whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals*

Prepare cherry and lemon gelatins separately, according to package directions. Turn into two 9x5x3-inch loaf pans; chill until set. Add boiling water to lime gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add cold water. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat until foamy. Cut cherry and lemon gelatin into 1-inch squares. Arrange alternate layers of gelatin squares and whipped gelatin in 9-inch ring mold (6½ cup capacity). Chill 2-3 hours or until firm; unmold. Serve with apple spice whipped topping.

*To whip apple spice instant non-fat dry milk crystals:

1. Mix ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ½ cup well-chilled apple juice in bowl.
2. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add two tablespoons lemon juice.
3. Continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer).
4. Gradually add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon.

Grapefruit Hawaiian Delicious Dessert

Here's a delicious, easy dessert. Halve grapefruit; remove seeds. Core; cut around each segment close to membrane. Drain off excess juice. Spread each half with 2 teaspoons molasses; lightly sprinkle with cinnamon; dot with butter and brown in broiler. Serve immediately.

Cranberry Fruit Shrub

- 1 pint cranberry juice cocktail
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup syrup from piced peaches, spiced watermelon rind or other sweet pickled or spiced fruit

Combine all ingredients and chill thoroughly. Makes 8 (½ cup) servings.

Try These Muffins

Want to earn yourself a name as the best organized homemaker in the block? Bake a batch of home-made Coconut-Topped Banana Muffins for the next neighborhood coffee break. After the children are off to school get out the ingredients and start to mix. Sift together into a bowl 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅓ cup sugar. Mash a banana (you should have about ¼ cup) and mix with 1 teaspoon lemon juice, then with 1 beaten egg, ¾ cup milk and ¼ cup melted shortening or oil. Add liquids to flour mixture and stir only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups about ⅔ full of batter. Sprinkle tops with flaked coconut (toasted or plain). Bake in a hot oven (425°F) for about 20 minutes. You'll have 12 medium-size delicious muffins to serve with your coffee.

Norway Sardine Falisse

Lamb On The Menu

Accustomed as we are from nursery rhyme days to be sentimental about lambs, it's hardly surprising that many of us look favorably on hearty main dishes featuring the tender and succulent meat. Youngsters, particularly, enjoy lamb on the menu, perhaps because it's easy to eat and easy to digest, as well as flavorful.

Since lamb is exceptionally plentiful now, homemakers may well be inclined to use this fine meat more frequently.

To get the most value from your food dollar, and lots of eating pleasure, too, vary your lamb purchases to include some of the lesser known cuts. Because less in demand, they're generally less in price, but equal in food value and can easily be equally pleasing in taste. While loin and rib chops and legs of lamb are delectable, it takes but little ingenuity to make a fine main dish from the lower-priced cuts, such as shoulder chops and roasts, lamb stew and ground lamb.

Try this savory Curried Lamb for dinner some day soon. It's a satisfying economical dish, the whole family will enjoy.

- 1 cup chopped celery and tops
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons fat or oil
- 2 cups chopped cooked lamb
- ¾ cup brown gravy
- ⅛ to ½ teaspoon curry powder
- Salt to taste

Lightly brown celery and onion in the fat. Add meat, gravy and seasoning. Heat, stirring to keep from sticking. If dry, add a little boiling water. Makes 4 servings.

For variation, Curried Lamb may easily be converted to Chop Suey. Just omit the curry powder and add chopped almonds or sliced radishes, if desired. Serve on crisp fried noodles.

Food Facts

Norwegian sardines, caught in the cold mineral rich waters of the fjords, are available in two varieties, brisling and sild. Canned under various brand labels, both varieties come packed in either pure olive oil, sild sardine oil, mustard or tomato sauce.

The Hawaiian Touch

Here's a suggestion for frankfurter and pineapple kabobs, which will make a hit at a party for teenagers, or any others. Cut frankfurters into thirds. Thread the meat and pineapple chunks on skewers and weave bacon slices in between. Allow 4 frankfurter pieces, 3 pineapple chunks and 1 slice of bacon for each skewer. Place kabobs on broiler rack and broil about 2 inches from heat. Broil until bacon is lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Turn, broil second side until done, —about 2 minutes.

Praline Sundae Sauce

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphured molasses
- ½ cup evaporated milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup pecan halves

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan; add sugar and unsulphured molasses. Bring to a full, rolling boil; reduce heat and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in evaporated milk, vanilla and pecan halves. Serve warm or cool over ice cream or cake.

YIELD. 1⅔ cups.

Chief Asks Drivers To Prepare For Winter

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney has urged local motorists to get themselves "winter-wised" so they will be prepared to do their part in preventing traffic tieups and skidding accidents once freezing rain or snow arrives.

Cooperation of a thoroughly prepared driving public plays as important role in wintertime as an adequate snow removal budget or street crews and police working overtime, he said.

Stalling or skidding of a few chainless or snow treadless vehicles can bring occasional traffic jams soon after a snow starts, Gaffney said.

Three "fair weather" steps can avoid embarrassment and danger of snow and ice. Gaffney's recommendation, based on National Safety Council research and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, include:

Have good tire treads or snow tires if preferred; always carry a set of reinforced tire chains in the car trunk for severe conditions; and test windshield wipers, not only for blade condition, but for general operational dependability and for adequate pressure against the windshield.

"We certainly will appreciate the cooperation of drivers who remember past winters, who see their moral and social responsibility and act accordingly," Chief Gaffney said.

The British fought the Boer War against the African settlers, who were largely of Dutch descent.

Group Against Liquor License On Route 40

A remonstrance has been filed with the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners against issuance of a Class D beer, wine and liquor permit for an establishment on U. S. Route 40 just beyond the Six Mile House section.

Ray Mills has applied for a permit for the building which formerly housed Stuckey's which sold candy, knick knacks and refreshments.

The petition filed with the remonstrance was signed by 12 persons, including Rev. James Perry, pastor of the LaVale Methodist Church.

No date has been set for a hearing of the remonstrance but the liquor board meets next Wednesday.

Zoning Appeal Board To Meet Next Week

The recently appointed Zoning Board of Appeals for Allegany County will meet early next week to organize and elect officers, according to C. Lee Renaud, county planner.

Renaud said he plans to contact the board members, Ralph Cover, Everett Partridge and Wilbur Johnson and schedule the meeting for either Monday or Tuesday at the Planning Commission office at the Court House.

The board will elect a chairman and secretary and then discuss with Renaud the by-laws and rules for conducting appeal hearings.

General procedural activities will be outlined and the application forms for appeals will be discussed, Renaud said.

Renaud also said that many persons who apply for building permits at the Planning Commission office could eliminate delays in obtaining them by first having certain information with them when they apply.

The applications should have a drawing of the lot with dimensions noted and also the dimensions of the proposed building. Driveways and names of streets or roads on which the property fronts is also needed to properly process the application, Renaud said. Other data which is of help to the commission is the lot number, name of the subdivision (if any) and the Election District in which the building site is located.

Damage Suit Is Filed Here

The declaration listed Donald Michael Mannick, 2119 Dundalk Avenue, Baltimore as the plaintiff and James Willard Lewis, RD 3, Frostburg, the defendant.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 40 last February 5 when the Lewis car allegedly crashed into the rear of Mannick's car, which had stopped for traffic.

Hi-Y Councils To Meet Sunday

Allegany County Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Council will meet Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church, Frostburg, with the Beall High School organization serving as host.

Miss Peggy Groves, co-president of the county group, will conduct the meeting.

Skirt Fightin' Word

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — A U.S. Navy official says American sailors in Scotland are being officially advised never to call the kilt a skirt. He said one did and "he was forcibly corrected by the chap who wore the kilt, a chap about two feet taller than the sailor."

Returned To Homes

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI)—Hundreds of families waded barefoot through knee-deep yellow mud Wednesday to return to the ruins of their homes after Seville's worst flood in a century.

Some 1,000 families have no homes at all, a city hall spokesman said. At leat eight persons died in the floods which started Saturday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, — Good morning! I'm glad to be back at my desk and one of the first calls came from Janet Leigh, bubbling with happiness and excitement. Back after many months in Brazil Janet told me that her welcome home present was a call from Frank Sinatra asking her to play opposite him in "Manchurian Candidate."

"I'm so glad to be in Frank's film," she said.

Tony Curtis is still in the Argentine, and will arrive in New York Dec. 12. "I'll be there to meet him," said Janet, "because I'm going to appear at Eleanor Roosevelt's charity affair at Madison Square Garden."

Bobby Darin, who insisted that he and Sandra Dee were going to keep their careers separate, has had a change of heart and will be Sandy's co-star in Ross Hunter's "If a Man Answers" at U-I. I never quite understood why Bobby was so set on going along on his own, particularly since they are so cute together in "Come September." But whatever the cause, he's relented and will make Winifred Wolfe's romantic comedy with his bride.

It will be Sandra's first picture after the arrival of the Darin baby. On the subject of that impending blessed event, someone called me the "tip" that Sandy had entered Cedars of Lebanon Hospital to have the baby.

She was at Cedars, all right, but with her mother Mary Douvan in for a check-up.

Where Soraya is concerned, Hugh O'Brian is yesterday's news, and his successor is—you'll never guess — George Hamilton, the handsome young socialite-actor who once was the guest of Ruth Cutten in Palm Springs, and George went right along. They went swimming and riding, and he taught her the twist.

Poor Irene Dunne has been bedded with a miserable cold. She telephoned to say that she is going on Chet Huntley's special TV program which pays tribute to J. Edgar Hoover. Jack Warner and Mervyn Leroy go to Washington for the big dinner being given for our popular FBI head. J. Edgar remains untouchable whether it's a Democratic or Republican administration, and that's as it should be.

Irene will also tape a General Electric show this week, in which she plays a woman who goes into politics to clean up the town.

The sentimental, witty speech Adela Rogers St. Johns made at the luncheon Mrs. Norman Taurog and Mrs. Harry Brand hosted in honor of Lorena Mayer must have been very good, I heard about it from so many of the guests. I was sorry to miss my dear Lorena's engagement party, as most of the belles, the club to which we belong, were there.

The colors were in green and white, which Bill Haines is using in the partment Lorena and Michael Nidorf will occupy when they are married shortly before Christmas. They will spend their honeymoon in Honolulu.

Two wives who sympathize with each other are Dorothy Squires (Mrs. Roger Moore) and Helene Buttons, wife of comedienne Red Buttons. Neither marriage is doing very well, and the girls were having the doldrums together Thanksgiving.

This is the second time Dorothy and Roger have faced a separation, and the second time they kissed and made up. Now, Roger is in Rome making a picture. Rumors are that he fell for a very pretty Italian actress and instead of coming home to Dorothy (who came on ahead) as he was supposed to do, he accepted another Italian picture to be near the young lady.

An unconfirmed report is that Yvette Mimieux and her husband Evan Harland Engber, whom she kept a secret for so long, are not seeing eye to eye. But Yvette isn't talking.

A happy mother-to-be is Nikki (Schenck) Dantine. She and Helmut expect their third baby in June. The Dantines have two little girls, Dita age 2 1-2, and Marti, 5 months.

Handsome Rod Taylor, now in Rome appearing in "Sir Francis Drake," is mad, mad for Anita Ekberg. If she'll say yes, he'll be very happy.

Chatted with Merle Oberon Pagliai, who is in New York and back from a wonderful two months trip in Europe. She'll stop here for three days before going on to Mexico City for Christmas. Christmas won't seem the same without Merle.

It's a relief to many people that the ashes of British actress Belinda Lee, so tragically killed in an automobile accident, finally have a resting place. Her ex-fiance Prince Phillipo Orsini arranged to have her remains interned in his family plot in Rome.

Rain and all, Annelle Stevens, divorced wife of actor Mark Stevens, was married Saturday to Bill Varick, vice president of Hanna-Barbera, producers of "The Flintstones." Director John Ford gave the bride away.

The George Sidneys, Cesar Romero, Janet Thomas, with Freddie De Cordova, Jan Clayton, Jeanne Crain and Paul Brinkman were among Annelle's guests.

Saw Sally (Blane) Foster at mass, and she told me that Loretta Young, who was bitten by a baby widow spider, really has had a terrible time.

Princess Grace is losing her personal secretary Phyllis Blum, who is marrying London Banker Julian Earl, on March 24. He's the grandson of Lord Maugham, and they'll make their home in London.

My thanks to Dorothy Manners, who, as always, did a great job on the column while I was away.

Place Second In Dance Band Contest

This local orchestra, the "Gentlemen Of Note," from Local 787, American Federation of Musicians' International, was the first runnerup in the eastern regional "best new dance bands of 1961" contest held last Friday at Ashtabula, Ohio. The Cumberland orchestra finished only a few points behind Ted Armen's 15-piece band from Erie, Pa. Both the winning band and runnerup received trophies. Johny Nicolosi's orchestra, from Williamsport, Pa., which was fourth in last year's national contest in Detroit, finished third this year in Ashtabula. Dr. Ward K. Cole of Frostburg directs the orchestra. Dr. Cole, who plays first trumpet, is shown standing in the middle of the first row. Left to right, first row, are Dave Windish, baritone sax; Chuck Thompson, tenor sax; Bill Twigg, alto sax; Dr. Cole, John Reed, alto sax; Jack Stitely, tenor sax; Roy Knotts, guitar, and Ace Humbertson, bass. Back row, left to right, Scott Kilmon, trombone; Bob Apsey, trombone; Joe White, trombone; John Ritchie, trumpet; Bob Stangle, trumpet; Dave Berry, drums, and Garlan Deter, piano. All but Kilmon played with the band at Ashtabula. Knotts is business manager for the orchestra.

Opening lead: Jack of ♦

There are some hands which present several options in the play, all of which are so close as to make very difficult the determination of which is best. It is precisely this type holding which deserves a deliberate huddle in consideration; so many others do not.

The final contract today was completely justified by the respective holdings. South played the dummy's queen of diamonds on West's opening lead and, this was in turn covered by East's king and declarer's ace.

Declarer had a choice between setting up dummy's heart suit or relying on a possible cross-ruff. He finally elected to cash the ace, king of hearts, discarding a diamond and then ruffed a third heart on which East discarded a diamond. South then played the ace, king, and another club but, West ruffed with the five of spades, forcing dummy to overruff with an honor.

There was now no reasonable way to manage the hand so as to produce the balance of the tricks. The heart suit could be set up but there would remain no entry in dummy and the losing club could not be ruffed out without building up a trump winner in East's hand.

The line of play that appeals to us as being best would be as follows: Play a high heart, then ruff a low heart. Play a high trump from declarer's hand then lead a trump to dummy. This tests out the trump situation. Since they have divided, a second low heart can be ruffed with South's remaining high trump, and dummy's last trump provides an entry to run the set up hearts.

If it turns out that the trumps are 4-1 declarer must hope for a 3-3 heart break. Two trumps will then be outstanding, but a high heart is led and continued as declarer discards his losing diamonds until the player with the trump ruffs in. Whatever he leads back is taken; then his trump is extracted with dummy's last trump. On the good heart suit sufficient discards are obtained to fulfill contract.

WVU Acting Head Will Defend Budget Requests

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Dr. Clyde L. Colson, acting president of West Virginia University, is scheduled to appear before the State Board of Public Works next month in support of the university's proposed 1962-63 budget.

Colson will appear Dec. 11, the first of three days of hearings scheduled by the board for various departments who want to be heard on their proposed budgets.

The board will spend the last two days of the week considering the proposals for submission to the 1962 Legislature. Requests from the general revenue fund are expected to total about $155 million. The university is seeking about $10 million.

Other spending agencies scheduled to appear Dec. 11 are the Civil Service System, Civil Defense, the State Department of Public Institutions and the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Among agencies scheduled Dec. 12 are the Tax Department, the Department of Natural Resources, the Health Department and the Department of Welfare.

On Dec. 13, the board will hear the Commerce Department, the Board of Probation and Parole, the Board of Education, the Department of Public Safety, the State Department of Mental Health and the Air Pollution Control Commission.

Withdraws Threat

ACCRA, Ghana, (UPI)—Ghana expelled two British newsmen Tuesday but withdrew an expulsion threat against American newsman Henry Tanner of the New York Times.

Interior Minister Kwaku Boateng ordered Neil Bruce of the British Broadcasting Corp., and Arthur Chesworth of the London Daily Express out of the country.

Bruce said afterwards that he, Chessworth and Tanner were informed they would be expelled for straining relations between Ghana and Britain and Ghana and the United States by filing "false, tendentious and obnoxious" reports.

Moorefield Plant Plans To Expand

Raygold Company Needs More Space

MOOREFIELD — The Raygold Manufacturing Company will inaugurate an immediate expansion program to increase production of its dimensional kitchens and cabinets, according to Dr. Alvin Goldhush, president.

Dr. Goldhush has been negotiating with the Moorefield Development Company, owners of the plant, to enlarge the facilities to allow increased production. Allen Hazard, plant superintendent, said additional buildings are required and plans are almost completed for a new and more efficient production line.

The Moorefield Development Company, composed of 30 businessmen in the community, has arranged for a loan for the construction of the additional buildings and rehabilitation of existing structures. Goldhush indicated his company's investment for the improvements would more than double that of the Development Company. The firm has an option to purchase the property at any time.

The new additions and improvements at the local plant, now employing some 125 men and women, will provide more employment. The plant payroll is about half a million dollars a year and the plant has missed only two pay periods in four years.

Wagman, Basketball Fixer, Pleads Guilty To 37 Counts Of Bribery

Gambler Paid Out $14,250 Over 2 Years

Many Fix Attempts Successful; Will Be Sentenced On Jan. 10

NEW YORK (AP) — Pale and shaken, 28-year-old gambler Aaron Wagman pleaded guilty Wednesday to a sweeping indictment naming him as a master fixer in recent college basketball scandals. He could receive sentences totaling 370 years and fines up to $370,000.

The move came as a surprise at the start of his trial on 37 counts of bribery and one of conspiracy. He entered a plea of guilty to all.

Sentencing Set Jan. 10

Ashen faced as he stood in General Sessions Court, Wagman told Judge Joseph A. Sarafite that he had been promised nothing by anyone as a condition for his move. The judge accepted the plea and set Jan. 10 for sentencing.

There was no indication as to what prompted Wagman, who gave his occupation as a salesman, to take the unexpected step.

Upon his indictment last April, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Wagman had bribed nine players of five colleges and universities to cut down on their teams' margins of victory.

Hogan said the payments ran to as much as $1,500 a player, and totaled $14,250. Many of the fix attempts during the past two seasons were successful, Hogan said.

The point-rigging system was designed as a means for gamblers such as Wagman to beat the bookmakers. In such cases the players do not necessarily attempt to lose games.

Concerned 29 Games

Wagman was the key figure in a grand jury probe lasting for months. The inquiry eventually involved 37 players from 22 schools and concerned fix attempts in 29 games.

The scandal paralleled that of a decade ago, which implicated 33 players from seven colleges. Some of the players then went to jail.

In the current case, all but one of the 37 athletes received immunity from prosecution in return for their testimony before the grand jury, and that which they would have given in court.

An associate, Joseph Green, 37, pleaded guilty Monday to charges of bribing Columbia University player Fred Portnoy to shave points in four games last season. Green could receive a maximum sentence of 20 years and a $20,000 fine.

Cases Postponed

They are Louis Brown, 22, of Jersey City, N.J., former star player for the University of North Carolina; Jerry Vogel, 24, of the Bronx, former player for the University of Alabama, and Daniel Quindazzi, 24, of Yonkers, N.Y., also a former Alabama player.

Brown was indicted on two counts of bribery and one of conspiracy. Quindazzi and Vogel were charged with a bribery and conspiracy count each.

Minors May Adopt New Bonus Rule

Plan Spending Curb For Untried Players

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Baseball's minor leagues are expected to adopt a new version of a bonus rule Thursday, designed to curb the spending spree that cost club-owners a reported $12 million in 1961 as payments to untried youngsters.

If the minors adopt the proposed legislation at their final convention sessions, the majors probably will follow through on Saturday at Miami Beach. Seventeen of the 22 minor leagues must approve the adoption.

At least two amendments offered by the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants organization through minor league affiliates would alter the original proposal, drawn up by a six-man major league committee. The committee has the backing of Commissioner Ford C. Frick and George Trautman, president of the National (minors) Association.

Spent $12 Million

"We have to do something to keep from committing suicide," said one high baseball official. "The clubs spent $12,000,000 on bonuses in 1961."

Opponents of the proposal point out that the draft of 15 first-year men and a steady increase in the total draft that numbered 35 for $680,000 by the majors indicated the present rules would work if given more time.

Previous bonus rules did not work because they could not be enforced. Basically, the committee's proposal would strengthen the existing first-year draft by which club's can lose their big bonus babies for only $12,000. It is designed to discourage the huge bonus by making more first-year men subject to the draft and at a lower cost.

As matters stand, a club can pay a bonus of any size to any player. After the boy's first season, he can be advanced to the big league roster until the 40-man limit is reached and thus made immune from the draft.

Would Cut Draft Price

Frick's group would reduce the first-year draft price from $12,000 to $8,000. It would permit a big league club to farm out only one first-year man and he would count in the big league club's player limit. No other first-year man could be farmed out until all the other big league clubs had a chance to take him at the $8,000 waiver price. The players sent down after going through the waiver process could not be recalled until after the next draft.

The Dodger amendment would leave the draft price at $12,000 but would permit a team to farm out two first-year men.

ACC All-Star Team Selected

Collins, Gabriel Are Top Choices

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Two men who gained national honors during the season, Maryland end Gary Collins and North Carolina State quarterback Roman Gabriel, head the Associated Press All-Atlantic Coast Conference Football Team for 1961.

They are the only repeaters from last year's team make the top unit announced Wednesday night by the AP board of sports writers serving the ACC area.

Collins was AP Lineman of the Week for his role in Maryland's early season upset of Syracuse. Gabriel was AP Back of the Week for his passing and running job that produced four touchdowns to smother South Carolina.

North Carolina gained three positions, champion Duke and Maryland two each and the four others were spread over as many teams.

Gabriel, at 6-4 and 220 pounds is the biggest man on the team. Joining him in the backfield are halfbacks Alan White of Wake Forest and Gib Carson of North Carolina and Bob Elliott, North Carolina fullback.

Collins, a skilled all-around player for three years at Maryland, has been one of the most colorful players in ACC history. A top notch receiver, he also has played well on defense and is a good punter.

Two of the three juniors who made the team are tackles, Art Gregory of Duke and Jim Moss of South Carolina.

The team has fine guards in junior Jean Berry of Duke, a strong, fast man who plays offense and defense with equal skill, and Jim LeCompte of North Carolina, who is from Gaithersburg, Md. Coach Jim Hickey says LeCompte never has played a bad game for North Carolina, operating as a guard on offense and tackle on defense.

Bob Hacker has been Maryland's top center for two years. He anchored the line Terp coach Tom Nugent has called his best in three years at Maryland.

Trotters Please Sellout Crowd In Exhibition Here

2,000 See Famed Quint Win, 94-82; Five Acts Presented

The Western unit of the famed touring Harlem Globetrotters, featuring the clowning of Bob "Showboat" Hall, Junior Lee and J. C. Gipson, the fancy dribbling of Don Barnette and the excellent outside shooting of Bobby Milton highlighted a tremendous and exciting variety show presented last night before a sellout crowd of approximately 2,000 persons at Allegany High School gym.

The Trotters defeated the Honolulu Surfriders, 94-82, in a crowd-pleasing exhibition of basketball tom-foolery which climaxed the evening's program which was sponsored by the Allegany County Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Proceeds from the show will go toward continuance of the county's scholastic fitness program.

Baton Twirler Thrills

The show, 10 minutes late in starting because the Globetrotters' bus broke down on its trip here from Wilmington, Del., was begun with a fancy bit of baton twirling by Nick Keserick, Indiana youth who thrilled the crowd with his dexterity by finishing his act twirling three batons at once.

Segitto, a sure-handed juggler from Munich, Germany, gave one of the fastest exhibitions of pin juggling ever seen here and concluded his show by balancing eight candles and their holders on his head.

Jackie Coconut, Sydney, Australia equilibrist played a small harmonica and the ukelela while standing on his head and then built a pyramid of blocks while standing on his hands for more than two minutes.

Juggler Well Received

Tony Wells, a juggler from Frankfurt, Germany, offered a well-received act with the large and small balls, finishing up by juggling three small balls, three large balls and four hoops at one time.

Ross and Ross, a husband and wife team, gave an exhibition of precision bag punching and provided the audience with a laugh by coaxing two spectators, including Robert E. Pence, county physical education director, to get into the act.

In the basketball game, the Trotters jumped out in front in the opening seconds on J. C. Gipson's goal and never trailed as they led by 10 to 15 points throughout.

The Trotters' showmanship and repertoire of amazing tricks had the fans cheering and laughing throughout as they clowned through 40 minutes of play.

Milton Scores 22

Milton paced the scorers for the Trotters with 22 points, many of his baskets coming on long, high-arching shots which thrilled everyone. Gipson tallied 20 points, several on "dunk" shots and Ernie Wagner scored 17 along with Hall as the Trotters pulled out all the stops in a pleasing show.

Best for the Surfriders who came along for the fun of playing were Jerry Lester, 6'7" center who had 19 points and Ronnie Holt and Van Smith with 16 and 17 tallies respectively. The lineups:

Middies May Be Receptive To Bid From Rose Bowl

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Navy did not intend to be receptive to a post-season football game even if beats Army Saturday, but what about the Rose Bowl?

"It looms as a great potential," admitted Capt. Asbury Coward, Navy director of athletics, Wednesday.

There has been no official word that Navy is being considered for the New Year's Day game in Pasadena, Calif. But Coward agreed that with Alabama and Ohio State both declining feelers, the Rose Bowl sponsors are bound to be looking everywhere for an attractive opponent for U.C.L.A.

The Army-Navy game in Philadelphia is a natural spot. Tom Hamilton, commissioner of the host Big Five Conference in the Rose Bowl, said Tuesday that a definite bid to a visiting team would not be extended until Saturday.

Hamilton, former football coach and athletic director at Navy, is scheduled to attend the Army-Navy game.

Bob Curran, executive director of the Gotham Bowl, said that the invitation had been accepted by Baylor athletic director John Bridges.

Utah State had a season record of nine wins against one tie. Baylor won five and lost four and accepted the game "by unanimous vote of the players," Curran said.

Atlanta Gets Berth In IL

Obtains Franchise From Charleston

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Charleston (W.Va.) franchise in the International League has been shifted to Atlanta, it was announced Wednesday night by League President Tommy Richardson.

Richardson also announced that starting next season the I.L. will be divided into two divisions. Atlanta, Jacksonville, Richmond and Columbus (Ohio) will form the Southern Division, with Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto and Syracuse in the northern sector.

Atlanta formerly was a member of the Southern Association and several groups there have been striving to obtain a major league franchise.

The new Atlanta franchise, owned and operated by William McDonald, will have a working agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Richardson said that a few minor details have to be worked out with Earl Mann, the landlord of Ponce de Leon Park in Atlanta and former owner of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association.

Jersey City was granted permission to transfer its franchise to Jacksonville Tuesday. The Jacksonville club will have a working agreement with the Cleveland Indians.

Mason Fox led Beckley with 28 points and hauled down 22 rebounds. Larry Sumpter had 12 points for Beckley.

Tigers, Dodgers And Giants Make Offers For Athletics' Bob Shaw

Detroit Gives KC Choice Of Three Players

Cincy Seeks Keough, Bengals Interested In Jones Or Lown

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)— The name of pitcher Bob Shaw, Kansas City's leading winner, brought about a near stampede at the baseball meetings Wednesday with the Los Angeles Dodgers, Detroit Tigers and San Francisco Giants trying to outbid one another for the 28-year-old right-hander.

Detroit, which had Shaw before, has offered the A's their choice of three players for him—outfielder Charley Maxwell, a left-handed hitter; pitcher Paul Foytack; or first baseman Larry Osborne.

"The Tigers' offer is interesting and we're still listening," said Kansas City General Manager Pat Friday, "but what we're primarily after is a righthanded hitting outfielder. I mean a good one."

Would Like Shaw

Friday had hardly finished one of many conversations with the Tigers when he was button-holed by General Manager Buzzy Bavasi of the Dodgers, who have a surplus of outfielders.

"We wouldn't mind having Shaw at all," Bavasi conceded. "It all depends if we can get together."

Earlier in the day, the A's and Giants looked like they might be close to a deal but once again, Shaw, who had a 12-13 record for last-place Kansas City this year, proved to be the roadblock.

The proposed deal between the A's and Giants would have moved Willie McCovey and Felipe Alou to Kansas City for Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe.

That deal was proposed by the A's and after considerable discussion the Giants indicated they would go for it providing Shaw was included. Kansas City said no at that point.

Talked With White Sox

General Manager Rick Ferrell and field manager Bob Scheffing of the Tigers also talked with the White Sox and Houston Colts in an effort to come up with a pitcher. The Tigers would like to get Sam Jones from the Colts or Turk Lown from the White Sox, but the White Sox created a stalemate by asking for outfielder Bubba Morton in return.

Cincinnati made a pitch for Washington outfielder Marty Keough, offering outfielder Joe Gaines, just up from Indianapolis, but the Senators couldn't see making that swap.

Manager Bill Rigney revealed that the Los Angeles Angels also are trying to make a deal but complained that "everyone we talk to wants outfielder Lee Thomas and we're not about to let him go."

When the opposing clubs don't ask the Angeles for Thomas, they ask for pitcher Ken McBride, and Los Angeles has little inclination to deal him, either.

Ed Short, the new GM of the White Sox who already has swung two deals, still is hoping to make a third one, involving either Bill Pierce or Sherm Lollar, and the Indians have let it be known that Vic Power and Willie Kirkland are available, too.

Pronounced Fit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Sonny Liston and Albert Westphall were pronounced in "very good shape" Wednesday for their Dec. 4 heavyweight bout at Convention Hall here.

Both men were examined by Dr. Wilbur H. Strickland.

Bernie Faloney Is Honored By Canadian Loop

TORONTO (UPI) — Castoff quarterback Bernie Faloney, who had to go to court to keep his job with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, was named Canada's outstanding football player Wednesday.

The 29-year-old former Maryland star, who made history guiding the Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League from last to first place in one year, beat out three-time winner and eight-time finalist Jackie Parker of the Edmonton Eskimos.

Faloney, also the only player ever to quarterback national championship teams in both divisions of the CFL (Edmonton in 1954 and Hamilton in 1957), was awarded the Schenley Trophy and a $1,000 bond.

In addition to the most valuable player award, Winnipeg tackle Frank Rigney was named the lineman of the year and Calgary defensive end Tony Pajaczkowski the top Canadian in 1961. Each received a trophy and a $500 bond.

NCAA Willing To Review ND Disputed Win

"Nothing Officially Can Be Done"—Hardt

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)— The president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association said Wednesday that if Notre Dame still wants a review of the controversial "extra play" victory over Syracuse he felt sure the NCAA would try to comply.

"I have written Notre Dame in regard to their request for a full rules committee hearing," Dr. Henry Hardt of Texas Christian University said Wednesday.

"I have expressed my feelings on the matter, essentially backing up General (Robert) Neyland's statement that the game-winning field goal after the gun was illegal," Dr. Hardt said.

"Since the incident occurred as it did, it is my feeling that nothing officially can be done about it," the NCAA head said.

"But, if in the light of my reply to Notre Dame, they still want a full council or full rules committee review of the matter, I feel sure we (the NCAA) will try to comply with their request."

Illeagal Says Neyland

Neyland, in ruling the Notre Dame's disputed 17-15 victory Nov. 18 was made on an illegal play, said there is no official machinery to reverse the score. That will have to be up Notre Dame. The Irish may claim the victory or hand it to Syracuse.

The only similar instance in recent football history was in 1940 when Cornell handed a game to Dartmouth after Cornell had won on an illegal fifth down.

Walter Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA, said in Kansas City after a telephone conversation with Neyland that the NCAA accepts Neyland's interpretation of the rules.

Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director, is chairman of the NCAA Rules Committee.

Won After Game Ended

Notre Dame won the game on a 41-yard field goal by Joe Perkowski after the game was over. A roughness penalty had been called against Syracuse when Notre Dame tried a 56-yard field goal with three seconds left to play, and the officials gave the Irish another try.

"When Notre Dame kicked that ball they surrendered possession," Neyland said Wednesday. "As long as it's human to be fallible, mistakes are going to be made in officiating."

Lehigh Wins Lambert Cup

Tops Eastern Small College Grid Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lehigh, which posted a 7-2 record this season, Wednesday became the first two-time winner of the Lambert Cup, awarded annually to the mythical Eastern small college football champion.

The Engineers, who won the cup for the first time in 1957, walked off with this year's trophy when they polled seven first-place votes and one second-place vote in the final balloting by the eight - man selection committee. Lehigh wound up with a near-perfect 9.9 rating.

Coached by William B. Leckonby, the Engineers lost their first game of the season to Delaware and later bowed to Rutgers, one of only two major unbeaten and untied teams in the nation. Lehigh's victims this year included three major colleges — Harvard, Columbia and Colgate—plus Gettysburg, Kings Point, Bucknell and Lafayette.

Amherst, which won seven of eight games, finished second in the final balloting with an 8.0 average. Albright (7-0-1) was a close third at 7.9. Completing the top 10 were Yankee Conference champion Maine (8-0-1), Hofstra (7-2), Bucknell (6-3), Williams (6-2), Susquehanna (8-0-1), Delaware (4-4), and West Chester (7-2).

The other previous winners of the Lambert Cup were Buffalo (now a major college), Delaware and Bucknell.

Ferguson Voted Back Of Week

Ohio State Player Leader In AP Poll

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State's Bob Ferguson, who closed out his fine college football career with one of his most powerful performances, was selected Wednesday as The Associated Press back of the week.

The rock-solid Buckeye fullback smashed 152 yards on 30 carries and scored four touchdowns as Ohio State overwhelmed traditional rival Michigan 50-20 last Saturday.

Ferguson, an All-America as a junior last year and a prime candidate to repeat, finished his final varsity season in typical style against the Wolverines. The 214-pounder scored on a 19-yard run and on three one-yard plunges, running his touchdown total for the year to 11.

A sheer-muscle charger with tremendous drive, Ferguson was the durable leader of Ohio State's powerful ground attack. He carried 202 times in nine games (eight victories, one tie) and made 938 yards, averaging 4.6 per try

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes regards him the best player in the country, and a more impartial observer labels Ferguson "a one-man gang of the Bronko Nagurski type."

Ontario Judges To Work Patterson-McNeeley Fight

Joe Walcott Will Be Referee; Six Ounce Gloves To Be Used

By JACK CUDDY

TORONTO (UPI)—Cus D'Amato, fiery manager of Floyd Patterson, threatened Wednesday to appeal to Ontario's Minister of Labor W. K. Warrender against a ruling that would prevent outside judges from being used in Patterson's heavyweight title defense against Tom McNeeley Monday night.

Merv McKenzie, athletic commissioner for Ontario, announced at Wednesday's stormy pre-fight medical examination that two residents of Ontario would be the judges and that their names would be announced just before the scheduled 15-round fight at Maple Leafs Gardens Monday.

That announcement touched off a blast by D'Amato in which the stocky, white-haired manager charged that McKenzie had approved the proviso for outside judges as well as an outside referee.

Will Appeal Decision

After a torrid debate with McKenzie, D'Amato instructed Julius November, Patterson's attorney, to appeal to Minister of Labor Warrender, McKenzie's superior.

However, when pinned down by reporters, D'Amato finally admitted he would permit Patterson to go through with his scheduled title defense even if Warrender denies the appeal.

Commissioner McKenzie announced some time ago that former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N.J., would referee the fight and he confirmed Wednesday that Walcott would be the third man in the ring.

But McKenzie declared he never had approved the Oct. 16 private contract between Patterson and challenger McNeeley of Arlington, Mass., which provided for outside judges and for a return bout in case of a McNeeley victory.

Achieved One Victory

D'Amato and Patterson did achieve one victory Wednesday, however, when McKenzie announced that the mandatory eight-count for knockdowns will not be waived although it is generally waived for title bouts. He pointed out that rules of the National Boxing Association provide for the eight-count as a safety measure and that at the recent NBA conventions the sentiment has been against waiving it even in title fights.

McKenzie said six-ounce gloves will be used, despite Patterson's request for eight - ouncers and that the bout can be stopped because of a cut near the eye. If the cut is caused by a legitimate blow, the boxer striking the blow will win, but if the cut is caused by an intentional butt, the injured boxer can win, which means that the title could change hands on a foul. If the cut resulted accidentally, the bout could be a draw.

Meek May Lose SMU Grid Job

Newspaper Indicates Bill Slated To Go

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Southern Methodist Coach Bill Meek was expected to join Texas A&M Coach Jim Myers on the coaching sidelines within the next few days, newspaper reports indicated Wednesday.

The Dallas Times Herald said it had learned from what it termed "excellent sources" that SMU's board of directors executive committee would exercise its right to relieve Meek of his coaching duties.

"It may come at a Friday meeting" of the committee, the Times Herald said, or it may be delayed until after SMU's final game against Texas Christian in Fort Worth Saturday.

The only comment available from SMU officials was athletic director Matty Bell's statement that the newspaper "may have the wrong information."

The 41-year-old Meek, who came to SMU under a 10-year contract after successful coaching spans at Kansas State and University of Houston.

The contract, however, has a clause permitting SMU to review Meek's status after five years and decide whether to keep him as a coach or, if Meek desires, move him to some other post at the school.

Maphis To Sit Out Season At WVU Due To Ankle Injury

Bill Maphis, sophomore from Romney, and two other second-year men will sit out the 1961-62 basketball season at West Virginia University, it was learned yesterday.

Bill Maphis

The 6-4 Maphis, voted the state's outstanding high school player two years ago, has been hampered by an ankle injury. By sitting out the campaign, he will retain three years of eligibility for varsity play.

Others slated to be held out of action are Mike Barger, 6-4, from Dunbar, and Bob Camp, 6-8, from Charleston.

Maphis had a four-year career scoring record of 2,504 points in 92 games while playing for Romney High School. In his senior year, he registered 831 points in 26 games and sparked Romney to the West Virginia Class AA championship during the 1959-60 season. The Pioneers, coached by Clyde Green, posted a 27-0 record that season.

Birmingham Club Quits Southern Association

Segregation Issue Is Cause; Three-Eye Is Expected To Disband

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) —Birmingham withdrew from the Southern Association Wednesday because of a segregation issue and the Three-I League, one of the nation's oldest minors, appeared ready to disband after 60 years of operation.

W. Albert Belcher, president and owner of the Birmingham Barons, announced his club's withdrawal because of a Birmingham ordinance which forbids the mixing of Negroes and whites on an athletic field.

Although the ordinance in question recently was pronounced unconstitutional by the U.S. Circuit Court, Birmingham authorities feel required to enforce it as long as it is in existence.

In making his announcement, Belcher said that "due to circumstances beyond my control, the Barons will be unable to play in Birmingham this year, and for as long as the segregation ordnance is on the books."

May Play Negroes

"We have been told that some Southern Association clubs may, and probably will, play some Negroes this season," Belcher added. "This makes it impossible for us to continue, and it will remain impossible as long as the ordinance exists."

League directors voted to leave the Birmingham franchise with Belcher on an inactive basis. The Barons were one of the charter members of the league and have been members continuously since 1901.

Birmingham's withdrawal may mean that the league will have to operate with only six clubs next season. The six cities will be Little Rock, Chattanooga, Macon, Nashville, which appears to have lined up a major league working agreement, Columbus, Ga., and Evansville, Ind., taking the place of Atlanta.

Mobile has indicated it will not operate in 1962 and Shreveport also is undecided.

End In Sight

The end of the road for the Three-I League seemed to be in sight following two emergency meetings, after which President Ken Blackman of Cedar Rapids announced that the six clubs which operated in the circuit last year were unable to find enough major league affiliations.

"And we just can't operate without having each club connected with a major league team," Blackman declared.

Only four clubs in the league were able to obtain working agreements — Cedar Rapids with Milwaukee, Fox Cities, Wis., with Baltimore, Lincoln with the Chicago White Sox and one other club to be designated with the New York Mets.

Angry Students At Ohio State Demonstrate

Buckeyes Reject Rose Bowl Bid

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Ohio State students demonstrated twice Wednesday in protest of the Faculty Council's rejection of a Rose Bowl bid for the Big Ten football champion Buckeyes.

An angry group of students, estimated at about 1,000 by the Columbus Police Department, staged protests accompanied by vandalism Wednesday night after having marched around the campus for three hours in the afternoon.

The milling throng was reported to have broken windows at the Faculty Club on the campus, prompting the university president to issue a warning that any further violence would be dealt with by officials.

Like Tuesday night when the protests started, some of the group walked and hitchhiked down to Broad and High Streets, the main intersection here, and sat down, blocking traffic until police warned them to move on.

The students then returned to the campus where were observed by city and state police cruisers as they snake - danced around the campus.

Receipts Of Mercy Bowl Game $154,081

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Mercy Bowl football game earned $154,081.23 in net receipts to be used toward assisting survivors and relatives of victims of the 1960 California Poly of San Luis Obispo plane disaster, it was announced Wednesday.

Gross receipts from the Thanksgiving Day game between Fresno State and Bowling Green College reached $184,684.03. But expenses, including federal tax, trimmed $30,000 from the money available to the Cal Poly fund.

The crash at Toldeo, Ohio, killed 22, including 17 members of the football team. A series of complications over insurance and whether the chartered C46 was airworthy as requires by the insurance firm has prevented receipt of such benefits.

Frostburg State To Open Basketball Season With Shepherd Tonight

Rich Bowers In Debut As Rams Coach

Frostburg Is Game Site; Dr. Van Ryswyk Names His Starters

Frostburg State Teachers College and the Rams of Shepherd College have the honor of opening the 1961-62 collegiate basketball season in the tri-state area when they do battle tonight at 8 o'clock in Frostburg.

Shepherd comes to the Mountain City with a new coach in the person of Richard Bowers, successor of Flavius Smith, whose 1960-61 quint posted an 8-11 record.

The Shepherdstown quint swept the series from Frostburg last season, winning an overtime thriller in Frostburg, 84-80, and taking the return contest, 91-80.

Dr. Ron Van Ryswyk, who made his debut as head coach of the Bobcats last season, has selected Jim Thompson, Jack Patterson, Hank Winner, George Connolly and Roy Sigler as his starting five. Among the others who are expected to see service are Gene Wood, freshman from Leonardtown, Sam Holliday, George Lauder, Joe Nicewarner, Bill Wiltison, Grayson Solomon, Quincy Crawford and Bill Brooks.

Lauder Must Reduce

George Lauder, former Valley High School star, has been elected captain of the Bobcats, but he will not start tonight because he is overweight, according to Coach Ron Van Ryswyk.

Lauder tips the beam at 213 and when he gets down to 210 he will be in the starting lineup, Dr. Van Ryswyk declared. When the second semester starts Lauder is expected to get down to 205 pounds to earn the role of starter.

John McClelland is on the disabled list with a football injury and is not expected to see action until January. Charley Robinson, former Fort Hill High School star, who is a transfer from the University of Pittsburgh, will not be eligible until the second semester.

Frostburg has an experienced squad, having lost only one regular from last season — Ronald "Butch" Young. There are 15 players on the squad. The Bobcats won 7 and lost 14 last season.

Clifton Van Roby and Joe Wolfe will officiate in tonight's contest.

At Baltimore Saturday

The Bobcats journey to Baltimore Saturday night to play Baltimore University of the Mason-Dixon Conference. Next Tuesday Altoona Campus meets the Bobcats at Frostburg.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:

"While a hunter unloaded his shotgun before placing it in his auto trunk, the gun accidentally discharged and killed a companion inside the auto. Will the 'loading and unloading of auto' clause in the hunter's Auto Liability Policy cover this death? Would a Personal Liability policy provide broader protection?"

Heffner Named Padres' Pilot

Served As Detroit Coach Last Season

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League Wednesday named Don Heffner, veteran major league coach, to manage the club in 1962.

Heffner, who was a coach with the Detroit Tigers last year, was given a one-year contract. Salary terms were not announced.

Heffner, a former major league second baseman, broke in with the New York Yankees, had coached with the Kansas City Athletics for three years before he switched to the Tigers. Before becoming a major league coach, he managed in the minors for 10 years, mostly for the old St. Louis Browns' organization.

Heffner succeeds Bill Norman, who managed the club the last six weeks of the season. Norman returned to the Chicago White Sox as a scout.

Coach Neil Johnston Will Play With Rens

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Coach Neil Johnston of the Pittsburgh Rens announced Wednesday he will return to active player status Wednesday night when his team plays the San Francisco Saints in the second game of an American Basketball League doubleheader at the Civic Auditorium.

The 32-year-old Johnston, former coach and all-pro with the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association, said he has been working out for the past three months and decided Wednesday he would play again for the first time since 1959.

Addition of Johnston, a 6'9", 235-pounder, brings the Rens' roster to 10.

Ferguson Elected

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UPI) — Larry Ferguson, who sat out Iowa's season this year after an opening game injury, has been elected captain of the 1962 Hawkeye footbal team.

The Madison, Ill., senior, who was Iowa's leading ball carrier during the 1960 season, has one more year of eligibility in college.

San Diego Negroes To Play In Houston

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Nine Negro members of the San Diego Chargers said Wednesday they would play Sunday in an American Football League game at Houston in spite of segregated seating there.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had asked the nine players to boycott the game as a protest to segregation.

The nine players, Ernie Wright, Paul Lowe, Bo Roberson, Luther Haynes, Sherman Plunkett, Earl Faison, Ernie Ladd, Charlie McNeil and Ernie Barnes, issued a statement after their decision was reached. They said they had "the deepest sympathy toward the cause" but decided to play in the game to fulfill "our obligation to the San Diego fans and other members of the Charger organization."

Harry Wismer

Joe Foss

A-FEUDING—Squaring off in a big feud in the American Football League are Joe Foss, the commissioner, and Harry Wismer, former sportscaster and owner of the New York Titans. Each threatens to oust the other following Wismer's defiance of Foss' edict nullifying a premature draft of college players by club owners in the league.

Cappy Cappon, 61, Basketball Coach At Princeton, Dies

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI)—Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon, head basketball coach at Princeton University for 23 years, collapsed and died Wednesday night while showering after practice.

The 61-year-old Cappon was dead when Dr. Joseph M. Ranpona, his personal physician, arrived at Dillon Gym. Ranpona said, "I think he had a new coronary."

Cappon suffered what was described as a mild coronary on Jan. 17, 1960. Prior to that date he had never missed a varsity game from the time he became head coach in 1938.

Edward J. Donovan, junior varsity basketball coach, was in the shower when Cappon was stricken. Donovan said he saw the coach falling and lowered him to the floor.

Adair To Manage Louisville Club

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Bill Adair, veteran minor league manager, was named pilot of the 1962 Louisville club of the American Association Wednesday.

Adair succeeds Ben Geraghty, who will manage the Jacksonville club of the International League in 1962. Louisville is a farm club of the Milwaukee Braves. Adair managed Austin of the Texas League last year.

Building Trades Chief Bitterly Assails Reuther

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — The organized labor rift widened Wednesday as building trades charged rival industrial unions and missile manufacturers with engaging in a job-pirating conspiracy.

C. J. (Neil) Haggerty, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, leveled bitter personal charges at Walter P. Reuther and the AFL-CIO Industrial Unions Department which the United Auto Workers president also leads.

In a keynote address to the building trades convention, Haggerty said Reuther's industrial unions and missile makers had conspired "through the presentation of biased testimony" to a Senate committee in Washington last spring to undermine building trades work opportunities at missile bases.

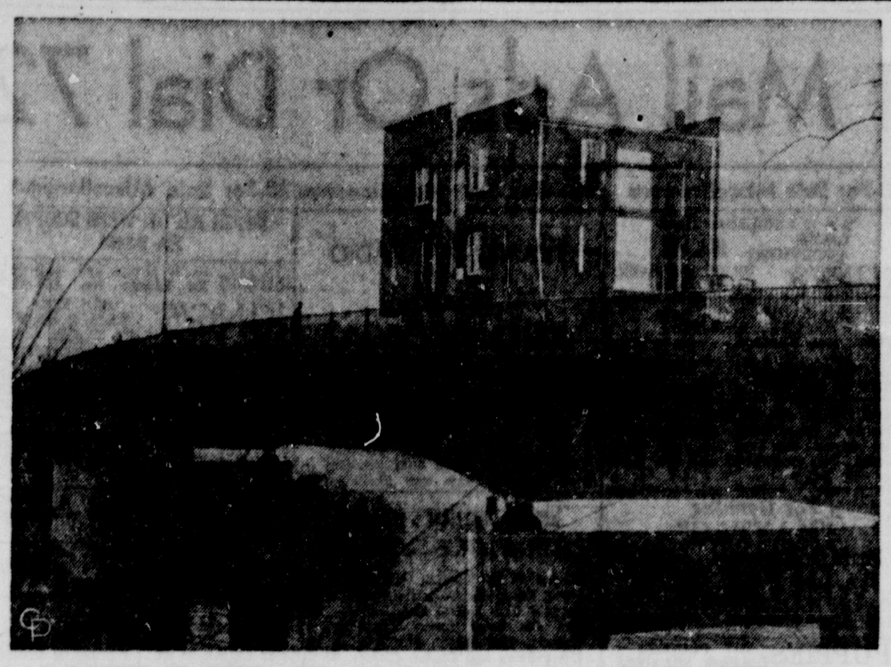
"What they are trying to do," Haggerty said, "is to take away missile site jobs from building trades workers and give them to industrial union members at lower wages whch prevail in (missile) manufacuring plants. No wonder the employers are on their side.

"If this is the kind of trade union 'morality' which Mr. Reuther enjoys orating about, we want no part of it."

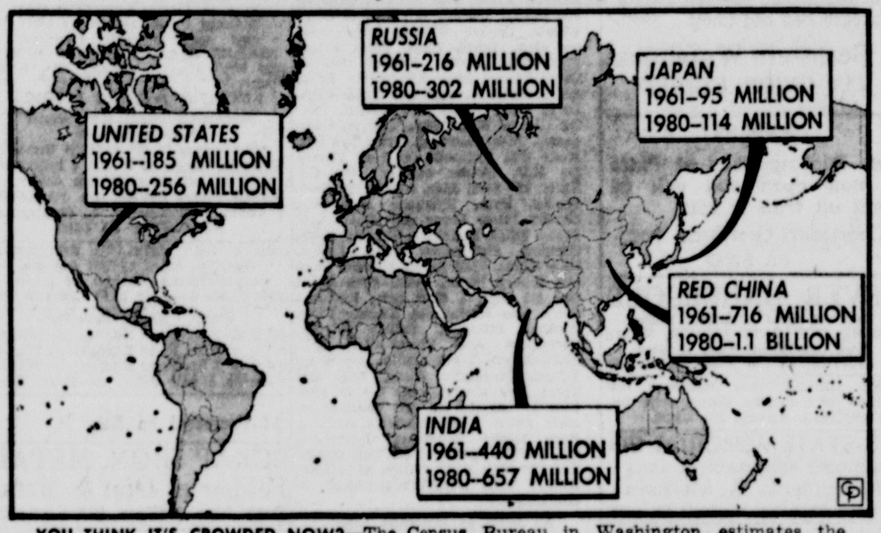
Haggerty's remarks hinted that the comparative labor peace now prevailing at the nation's missile sites may not be so firmly based.

After the Senate hearings produced testimony of costly labor practices and work stoppages at missile bases, the government stepped in and obtained a no-strike pledge from all the unions involved.

In that connection, Haggerty said Wednesday that building trades unions "have a right to expect fair treatment and protection of our job opportunities from the government when we agree to forego our only instrument of self-protection, the strike weapon."



IT CROSSED THIS BRIDGE WHEN IT CAME TO IT—A four-unit apartment building edges slowly over the Elk River bridge on Kanawha Boulevard in Charleston, W. Va., removed to make room for a downtown parking lot. Mover Vergil Fike had to take out $1 million in insurance to indemnify the city for any damage to the bridge.



YOU THINK IT'S CROWDED NOW?—The Census Bureau in Washington estimates the world's five most populated nations will be a lot more crowded in 20 years. The bureau, which records U. S. population increases with an electric counter, figures there is an average of one U. S. birth every 7.5 seconds, one death every 19 seconds, one immigrant every 1.5 minutes and one emigrant every 23 minutes. (Central Press)

Fatkin Gives Warning On Foster Homes

Says County Will Not Run Service

As a result of a hearing yesterday afternoon in Juvenile Court, Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin issued a stern warning that Allegany County is not going to run a foster home service.

Magistrate Fatkin made the statement after a local woman had failed to provide a home for her eight-year-old daughter who has been in a foster home for the past several months.

The woman, Mrs. Irene Landenberger, 26, this city, had been given a one-year suspended jail sentence last May for neglecting her daughter, and yesterday was brought before the court to see what provisions for a home she had made for her daughter.

Magistrate Fatkin told Mrs. Landenberger to return to the court on January 15 and if she could not provide a good home for her daughter she would have to serve the jail term.

The magistrate said if persons who have children in foster homes are not interested in taking care of them they should put them up for adoption.

He added there are a number of children in the county who are in foster homes and many of the parents are not even trying to provide homes for them. Magistrate Fatkin also said those individuals who fail to provide good homes will face possible jail sentences.

Richard Landenberger, this city, who is separated from Mrs. Landenberger, also was found guilty of non-support yesterday afternoon and was ordered to make support payments through the court.

Two Venezuela Police Killed Raiding Reds

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Two police agents were killed Wednesday in raids on various Communist party headquarters.

President Romulo Betancourt's government ordered Communist headquarters closed in a crackdown on leftists. The government broke relations with Cuba earlier this month.

A spokesman said someone threw a hand grenade at police in one raid on headquarters in the Cementerio section of the outskirts of Caracas, killing the two raiders and wounding four others. The grenade throwers escaped.

Rules Out Specials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army ruled out blue plate specials Tuesday in a program to substitute dishes for compartmented trays in its mess halls.

The dishes, expected to provide a more homelike atmosphere, will be white, with either a green or a burgandy - colored decorative band.

The Army said the change is expected to "appreciably reduce food waste."

"This does not mean a soldier will eat less, but since plate service is more conducive to appetite appeal, studies indicate he will tend to leave less at the dining table."

EXAMINER UPHELD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Labor Relations Board Monday, in sustaining an earlier finding of one of its examiners, ordered the Preston Feed Corp., at Reedsville, Preston County, W. Va., to treat the Teamsters union as the bargaining agent for its drivers. The company had previously failed to recognize the union.

Marriage Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interstate Commerce Commissioner (ICC) John W. Bush will marry Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburg, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, it was announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Will Lee McElroy of Columbus, Miss., mother of Mrs. Vredenburgh, announced the engagement. Mrs. Credenburgh is a resident of Birmingham, Ala., and Washington. Both she and Bush are widowed.

Bush, a native of Portsmouth, Ohio, was appointed to the ICC earlier this year by President Kennedy. Previously, he served in state posts in Ohio. He is 52 years old.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letter apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Guard Unit Inspected Here

Puppets Made Of Foam Rubber

NEW YORK (UPI)—Foam rubber Christmas cards and Santa Claus puppets have arrived on the holiday scene and youngsters will find them fun to make and receive.

The major items needed are several yards of foam rubber sheeting and a felt nib pen in bright red or green.

Using a pattern cut from brown paper as a guide, children can trace the outline of a Christmas tree, a snow man, an angel or a jolly Santa Claus on the white latex foam. Then they can cut out each figure with an ordinary scissors and add the finishing touches with their color pens. Printed greetings cut from old Christmas cards can be attached with a dab of rubber cement. A colored ribbon threaded through the top of the figure makes it a gay ornament for the Christmas tree.

Santa Claus hand puppets made of latex foam sheeting also can be turned out by the kiddies as surprises for their young friends. Shaped like large mittens with thumbs on each side, the puppets are made from two pieces of foam rubber sheeting glued around the edges with rubber cement. Santa's features can be drawn on the front finger part of the mitt with red felt nib markers and his peaked cap and suit can be colored in.

Truck Freedom Dash

BERLIN (AP)—An East German customs officer drove a huge truck at breakneck speed out of the Communist control area on the Berlin border Wednesday in a successful escape.

The customs man, wearing his uniform, was one of nine East Germans and East Berliners who fled to the West.

WVU To Erect Battleship Mast

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Work has started on the site to erect the mast of the Battleship West Virginia at West Virginia University and will include landscaping and a concrete terrace.

Charles Wagner, university architect, said "our whole object is not just to plant the mast, but to create a good impression of two heritages of the state — education and military."

The mast will be in the center of a concrete paved terrace measuring about 60 by 90.

Three flagpoles will be set up in one corner of the terrace, one for the United States flag, the state flag and the University flag.

Then plans for erecting it on the WVU campus bogged down and it lay virtually forgotten for some time in a weedy field before a renewed effort to raise it was started recently.

Austerity Program

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The minister of finance on Wednesday announced an austerity program for the Portuguese—including substantial tax increases.

Minister Antonio Pinto Barbosa proposed that "the rich and strong shall pay more and the small and economically weak may pay less."

Md. Educators Will Reassess Desegregation

BALTIMORE (AP)—The president of the State Board of Education called Wednesday for a reassessment of Maryland's progress in public school desegregation.

Frampton noted it had been seven years since the 1954 Supreme Court ruling which outlawed segregation in public schools.

"I think it is important to bring ourselves up to date—the sooner the better," said Frampton. "It is of the utmost importance that the board assume a leadership role."

The president called the meeting after the board formally received from Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan an opinion on an appeal of the refusal of Harford County school officials to permit a transfer of two Negro students to Aberdeen High School.

Potomac River Development Plans Outlined

River Bend Dam Proposal Opposed

About 200 persons, primarily a cross-section of city and county officials and representatives of local industry and labor with a smattering of people from as far away as Washington, D. C., heard a lengthy discussion of the Corps of Engineers' long-range plans for the development of the Potomac River Basin last night.

The meeting, sponsored by the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company, lasted more than two and one half hours in the auditorium of the Allegany Community College.

Col. Warren R. Johnson, Baltimore district engineer for the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers, was the chief speaker and spent about 40 minutes of detailed discussion of the four different plans for development of water resources.

Conflict Develops

The chief conflict with Col. Johnson's plans came from Thomas F. Giles, who was on last night's program as a representative of the National Park Service.

Mr. Giles disputed the Corps of Engineers' plans, particularly for the River Bend dam which would be the largest of the 12-to-20 large dams proposed for the Potomac and its tributaries in the next 50 years.

"It (River Bend) would destroy irreplacable historic, natural and recreational values associated with this 35-mile section of the river, its islands, shorelands and the C&O Canal National Monument," Mr. Giles asserted. "The importance of these unique values has been recognized by the establishment of the C&O Canal Monument and the active consideration by the Congress of legislation to expand the Monument and establish a National Historical Park."

Mr. Giles also opposes two other dams in this immediate area which are not included in the Corps' main stem and upper basin plan, the only one proposing River Bend.

Opposes Cacapon

The National Park Service spokesman also took issue with the proposed dam on the Cacapon River in nearby West Virginia and the one on the upper South Branch near Springfield, W. Va. The Cacapon dam is proposed only in the last of the four Corps of Engineers proposals and the Springfield dam in the second and third plans.

Mr. Giles says the Cacapon valley presents another unique situation, a relatively undisturbed major valley and is considered one of the best white water canoe cruises in the East. The South Branch dam near Springfield, he points out, would obliterate over 30 miles of important canoeing waters and a beautiful pastoral valley.

The National Park Service spokesmen believes that dams on Patterson Creek, Town Creek, Little Cacapon and the three on the North Branch and its tributaries would provide adequate impounded recreation water surface for this region. The North Branch dams are included in all four plans and the others on several of the alternates.

Loss Is Offset

Although the Royal Glen dam on the South Branch near Petersburg would inundate valuable reaches of the South Branch, the loss of these recreation resources tends to be offset by recreation value of the proposed impoundments.

Retired Judge George Henderson presided at the meeting after his introduction of John Geare, president of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company. He explained to his audience that the "screening" of questions was planned only to eliminate those which actually are argumentative speeches. It was not designed to Discuss River Development

South Branch Dam Plans Are Opposed

Johnson Cites His Opposition

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — State Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said Wednesday he plans to formally oppose construction of any big dams in the Potomac River basin, which he said would flood valuable farm land in the South Branch Valley of West Virginia.

Johnson said he did not know all the details of the federal plan — now being given a series of public hearings — but said he understood there would be one large dam built near Romney W. Va. and a second one south of Petersburg, W.Va.

He said the dams not only would inundate valuable grazing and farm land but eliminate scenic and recreational areas.

Carroll Greene, executive secretary of the West Virginia Soil Conservation Commission, said it was his understanding the "Corps of Engineers support a different plan that meets the approval of most of the people in the South Branch Valley" of West Virginia.

He said this plan would provide for construction of a large dam at the headquarters of the Potomac which would "just about clean out the better agricultural land in the South Branch Valley."

Greene favors expansion of the small dam program now under way in the valley. He said the Soil Conservation Commission has four small dams completed, four under construction, and 16 planned.

Series Of Low Dams Proposed By Sen. Beall

Looks To Hills For D.C. Water Supply

A series of low dams beginning in Western Maryland and West Virginia was proposed here last night by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall to prevent an impending water shortage in the Washington area.

There is sufficient land in the mountain areas to build dams, he said in a letter read by former Chief Judge Henderson, "without destroying the fertile lands in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, the South Branch of West Virginia and the Middletown Valley of Maryland."

The letter was read at a public hearing held in Allegany Community College on plans of the Corps of Engineers for the development of the Potomac River Basin. Senator Beall was in New Hampshire to attend the funeral of Senator Styles Bridges.

Coal Available

The sponsor of the original and so-sponsor of succeeding, authorizations to make the survey of the Potomac River and its tributaries. Senator Beall congrulated the Corps of Engineers for a "job well done."

He recalled that the Corps of Engineers completed a similar survey in 1948, making like recommendations. At that time, he said, they suggested high dams to generate electricity.

But the Senator said it has since been determined that in this region electricity can be generated more economically by coal than by water and "we know we have an abundance of coal in this region suitable for this purpose."

He said competent authorities, including the Army Engineers, predict there will be a definite shortage of water in Washington by 1970 and that something should be done to prevent the shortage, adding:

Asks Cooperation

"It is hoped that this . . . . . will be accomplished by a series of low dams beginning in Western Maryland and West Virginia where there is sufficient room to build dams without destroying the fertile lands in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, the South Branch Valley in West Virginia and the Middletown Valley in Maryland. Naturally if this were done, the communities adjacent to the Potomac River would be benefited."

He added he hoped all will cooperate with the Army Engineers and other official bodies in achieving our goal."

Snack Bar Testimony Completed

Arguments Set For Next Week

Testimony was completed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court in an equity suit filed in court by a group of Bedford Road residents who are seeking an injunction against the operator of a dairy and snack bar in their neighborhood.

Closing arguments will be heard by Associate Judge E. Earle Cobey when the case is continued next Tuesday at 9:15 a. m. in the court room.

The petition was filed against Tony Freno, who operates Ferdinand's Dairy and Snack Bar about two and a half miles north of Cumberland on Bedford Road.

The case started on October 11 but was recessed for a period of time when it was hoped arrangements could be worked out to eliminate the petitioners' claim that patrons of the business create a disturbance late at night.

It was pointed out in the petition that the disturbance stems from loud talking, spinning of auto wheels when customers leave the parking area and littering of the area with paper cups and other debris which blows onto the property of the petitioners.

Earl Manges is representing the Bedford Road residents and Milton Gerson and Simon F. Reilly are representing Mr. Freno.

George Meyers Defies Order To Register

Denies Communists Are Foreign Agents

BALTIMORE (AP) — The head of the Communist party in Maryland, George A. Meyers, said Wednesday he would defy the government's order to register Thursday.

"For us to register under that law," Meyers said in an interview, "we'd have to lie, and we're not going to lie for anybody, not even for the Department of Justice."

The Supreme Court upheld in June by a 5-4 decision the right of the government to require the Communist party and its members to register with the attorney general.

The party was to register by Nov. 20, but refused. Officers were to register by Dec. 1, and members by Dec. 20. The law provides for fines up to $10,000 and prison terms up to five years for failure to comply.

"We're not agents of a foreign power, and we're not dedicated to the overthrow of the government by force and violence," Meyers said.

He said he doubted if other members would register.

Meyers, 48, was convicted under the Smith Act in 1952 and served all but six months of a four-year sentence. He is a native of Lonaconing.

"Prosecution or no prosecution," Meyers said, "we're not going to cooperate with a damned lie."

Meyers said the Communists wound attempt to mobilize public opinion against the Smith Act of 1940 and the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, under which Communists are required to register.

"During the prosecutions in 1952," Meyers said, "I told people it was a prelude to harassment of others. People didn't believe it, they said that's just a Communist talking.

"But the McCarthy period ended and things are different now. Many more people now see the attacks on us as a forerunner of attacks on the labor movement, liberals and intellectuals. People who completely disagree with us see that."

Meyers said he returned last week from a six-week visit to the Soviet Union, where he attended the recent party Congress.

Leaders Receive 4-H Pins

Local leaders were honored last night during the annual 4-H Achievement Night program held at St. Mary's Church hall.

Mrs. Chester Robinette, Flintstone, was cited for 30-years of service as a local leader.

A 15-year pin was presented to Mrs. James Grable, Lonaconing, and a 10-year pin was given to Adolph E. Norris, Baltimore Pike.

Five-year pins were presented to Mrs. Louis Daniels, Happy Valley; Mrs. James Morgan Jr., Frostburg; Miss Peggy Wills, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Theodora Crouch and Mrs. Gwendolyn Kennell, Roundabout Club.

Those who received three-year pins include Mrs. Hazel Butterfield and Mrs. Howard Robinette, Flintstone; Mrs. Mary Fletcher, and Mrs. Theodore Twigg, both of Pine Hill Club; Mrs. Pauline Riggleman, McCoole; Mrs. Betty Slider, Twiggtown Club, and Harry Fike, Dawson Club.

Union, Paper Firm Striving To Avert Strike

Night Meeting In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for a new union contract with the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. called a session Wednesday night in an effort to reach agreement and stave off a threatened strike of about 3,600 workers.

Prior to Wednesday night's session, a union official said members of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union would strike unless an agreement is reached Wednesday night.

The official, Harry Scott, of Covington, Va., union vice chairman and regional director, said either an agreement would be reached Wednesday night or there would be a strike.

Is Hopeful

D. C. Valentine, labor coordinator for the company, said during a recess he is hopeful an agreement will be reached.

"But we are still pretty far apart on some items," he said.

The old contract expired at midnight Nov. 16. Scott said a strike vote already has been taken, and that union authorization has been granted for a strike if negotiations fail.

The company has offered a new contract both on a one-year and a two-year basis.

Valentine said the company offer on the one-year basis, which also would stand as the first year of a two-year agreement, included a general wage increase of about 5½ cents an hour for the Covington and Luke Mills, and 4 cents for the Williamsburg mill.

Adjustment At Luke

He said larger contributions toward insurance were proposed at Williamsburg than at the other two mills.

Other previous of the company's offer, he said, related to vacations, insurance, and other benefits.

The second-year provisions, Valentine said, included a 3 per cent general wage increase, to be effective Nov. 19, 1962, an improved pension plan, to be effective April 1, 1963, and a modernization adjustment at the Luke plant.
